HAVE FIST FIGHT

Fargo, Nov. 4.—A fist fight characterized the opening of the voting booth in the third Fargo precinct at 9 o'clock this morning, when a large number of persons attempted to win the honor of being the first to vote. George Dower emerged victorious.

Voting started with a rush in North Dakota today.

Bismarck was a fair sample of reports from various parts of the state. Many local polling places were crowded immediately after 9 o'clock this morning, when the polls opened to the voters, to remain open until 7 p. m.

In one ward here, 70 votes were cast in one hour, believed to be a record for early voting. All morning long voters flocked to the polls, so that by noon enough votes were cast to indicate that before the day is over a much larger vote will be cast than was cast in the June primary.

Fair weather prevailed in all parts of the state, the perfect autumn day in Bismarck being duplicated in most sections of the state. The weather bureau's reports indicated that the election just got under the wire, as rain or snow is predicted to follow the beautiful weather of today. In Bismarck, the drive of the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions clubs and the American Legion, to get voters to the polls before noon, had its effect. An unusually large number of women voted early. Most business houses that could close were shut tight between 11 a. m. and noon to give an opportunity for employees to vote. Automobiles of the political factions were busy taking voters to the polls. The lame and the sick need not walk today. An automobile always was on hand.

Little Disorder

Little disorder marked the voting early today. In the fifth ward, the polling place being at the Soo hotel, it was reported one man who was challenged was removed by a policeman. A bitter contest for votes was being conducted in this ward. The sounding of the fire whistle marked the opening of the polls. The fight in some local contests waxed warm, particularly as between P. E. McCurdy and E. S. Allen for the position of state attorney, and between Harry Clough and Frank Johnson for county auditor, with some other local fights also attracting attention.

Ugly rumors and reports of "deals" and "trades" were made during the day, in which party alignments were declared broken in the scramble for a comparatively small number of votes, as affecting the state-wide election. The local angle entered into the reported "deals."

Another warm county fight was conducted with remarkable good feeling between the contestants and their friends, that between Gerald Richolt and G. L. Spear for treasurer. Both are Bismarck products, graduates of the local high school, and have many friends in common. They and friends ardently sought votes, but with good feeling being maintained throughout.

BIG VOTE INDICATED

Jamestown, N. D., Nov. 4.—A heavy vote was being cast here this morning. Whistles blew every hour to remind voters.

VOTE EARLY

Mandan, N. D., Nov. 4.—An unusually heavy vote was registered in Mandan this morning. The Mandan Electric Company and Russell-Miller Milling Company, which close every half hour, and Republican workers, with a dozen automobiles working, announced they would carry all voters to the polls, regardless of whom they voted for.

Show Interest In N. D. History

Much interest is being manifested in local history and in the proposal to create a Roosevelt National Park in the Badlands of North Dakota, according to L. F. Crawford, curator of the State Historical Society. Numerous requests have been received by him for information on the history of various counties and on the Badlands. Schools and women's clubs in particular are showing interest in North Dakota subjects, he says.

"LOVE IN A COTTAGE"

Alfred D. Quimby, 18, was peddling candy in the Wallace shoe factory when he fell in love with Ruth Wallace, 15, a 15-year-old girl. They were married and set up housekeeping in one room and kitchenette. Now she has returned to her home at Rochester, N. H.

COOLIDGE AND WIFE AT HOME VOTE BY MAIL

Ballots Sent to Northampton, Massachusetts, During Last Week

Washington, Nov. 4.—(By the A. P.)—The usual calm of the White House prevailed today as the Coolidges made out their votes on absentee ballots and mailed them to Northampton, Mass., their home, last week, and little was left for the President to do but attend to the routine of his office and await returns.

In a radio speech to probably the largest audience ever addressed by one person, Mr. Coolidge appealed to voters to go to the polls today to insure a majority and protect the institution of self-government.

Most of the cabinet officers were out of the city, voting in their home towns. The others had engagements at the White House during the day, along with a few other callers. Tonight, in the early part of the evening, at least, Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge, with Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns of Boston, their guests, will receive election returns sent to the executive offices over special wires. It is expected the radio set in the White House also will be used for following the count.

COOLIDGE GETS FIRST VOTES

Two Towns Announce Results Favorable to Him

New Ashford, Mass., Nov. 4.—The vote of this town, the first to report its returns in the presidential election, was: Coolidge 20; Davis 1; LaFollette 0. The 1920 vote was Harding 28; Cox 6.

FOR FAVORITE SON

Somerset, Vermont, Nov. 4.—The vote of this town for President was: Coolidge 8; Davis 0; LaFollette 0. The vote four years ago was Harding 20; Cox 5.

Four men and their wives, the sole voting population, cast their votes for Mr. Coolidge. This second announcement by any town in the country was made possible by agreement of all the voters to cast their ballots the first thing this morning for Vermont's native son.

Sees Republican Majority in Next Congress

Washington, Nov. 4.—President Coolidge expects a vote in the electoral college of at least 350 and a Republican working majority in the House next session of 20 or more, it was said today at the White House.

Total receipts from fees, licenses and permits in the United States were $199,472,282 during first half of 1924.

ANOTHER BANK IS REOPENED

The Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Inkster, Grand Forks county, which went on special deposit one year ago today, reopened for business this morning. It was announced by State Examiner Gilbert Henningson. The bank's capital is $10,000 and deposits at the time of suspension were $88,000. J. H. McLean is president.

NEW YORK'S STATE FIGHT BRINGS VOTES

Unusually Heavy Vote Is Cast in Roosevelt-Smith Battle There

New York, Nov. 4.—With prospects of rolling up an unprecedented vote, New York state voters today began a steady pilgrimage to the polls as soon as they opened at 6 o'clock. A heavy vote was reported in all sections of New York City. Clear, cool weather prevailed throughout the state. In addition to keen interest in the three-cornered fight for the presidency, unusual interest was centered on the gubernatorial fight between Gov. Alfred E. Smith and Theodore Roosevelt, Jr.

FAIR WEATHER

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Fair weather, ranging from the Indian summer to the cold of the middle west today, greeted the voters throughout the middle west today, adding to prospects for a record vote in the presidential election.

Weather forecasts were for a fair day for the polling, with dry roads for the farmers.

A cool, crisp morning ushered in election day in Chicago, similar reports from Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, North and South Dakota being received.

Weather Report

For 24 hours ending at noon.

Temperature at 7 a. m.	37
Highest yesterday	43
Lowest yesterday	39
Lowest tonight	38
Precipitation	0
Highest wind velocity	14

WEATHER FORECAST

For Bismarck and vicinity: Unsettled tonight and Wednesday, probably rain or snow. Not much change in temperature.

For North Dakota: Unsettled tonight and Wednesday, probably rain or snow. Not much change in temperature.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

The pressure is low over British Columbia and Washington and has been accompanied by rain or snow over the extreme Northwest. The high pressure area now covers the upper Mississippi and lower Missouri Valleys and generally fair weather prevails from the Great Lakes region to the eastern slope of the Rockies. Temperatures have dropped considerably in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and a slight drop occurred in the Mississippi Valley and Plains States.

EARLY VOTING IS FOUND RULE IN NO. DAKOTA

Several Sections of the State Report Heavy Balloting During the Day

PRISONERS GET VOTE ANOTHER IS WOUNDED

Ward County Sheriff Permits Some of Them to Go To The Polls

Fargo, Nov. 4.—(By the A. P.)—Reports from representative cities in this state at noon today indicated that North Dakota was casting an unusually heavy vote.

Aided by fairly good roads and ideal weather a heavy rural vote also was presaged. In Fargo, the state metropolis, where a record registration was reported a week ago, the polls were crowded.

Early voting promised a heavy total in Grand Forks. A. C. Sorlie, Nonpartisan League candidate for Governor, voted early in the Second ward where he resides. Congressman O. B. Burnett, who was speaking last night in Sargent county, used an absentee voter's ballot.

In Minot a check-up of various precincts at 10:45 a. m. and again at noon showed that the largest early vote in the city's history is being rolled today, with indications that the heated issues and active work in getting out the vote will bring a 10 percent increase over the previous high total.

Prisoners Vote

Prisoners serving sentences in the Ward county jail for misdemeanors were given the privilege by A. S. Spicher of casting their votes in the election. Some of the prisoners were released in order to go to the polls while others who are treated as trustees were not accompanied to the polls by an officer.

Most of the prisoners who were given the privilege of voting are serving life for alleged infraction of the liquor laws. None of the prisoners held on felony charges were allowed to vote.

Governor R. A. Nestos voted early today as did Halvor L. Halvorson, coalition candidate for Governor.

Chilling temperatures were prevailing in Minot this forenoon with snowflakes occasionally visible in the air but they melted as they fell.

FIRST RETURNS ARE RECEIVED IN ELECTION

Come From New England, the South and From Some Kansas Precincts

Topeka, Kan., Nov. 4.—The incomplete and unofficial returns as announced in five precincts at noon today gave for President: Coolidge 253; Davis 98; LaFollette 5.

The incomplete unofficial count in 14 precincts gave for Governor: Governor J. Davis, Democrat, 180; Ben H. Paulsen, Republican, 52; William Allen White, Independent, 1.

"THE SOLID SOUTH"

Shreveport, La., Nov. 4.—The vote in the general election at McBride, Bousier parish, today, was Davis 15; Coolidge 0; LaFollette 0. At Cashland, Caddo parish, Davis 8; Coolidge 0; LaFollette 0.

CAPE COD VOTE

Boston, Nov. 4.—The vote of the town of Mashpee, in the Cape Cod district, in the principal contests of today's election follow: Coolidge 52; Davis 2; LaFollette 0. In 1920 the vote was Harding 43; Cox 4.

FOR COOLIDGE

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 4.—Windor, Hillsboro county, the first town of this state to report its vote complete in today's presidential election gave Coolidge 9; Davis 5; LaFollette 0. In 1920 the town gave Harding 7; Cox 5.

850 SOLDIERS BONUS CLAIMS ARE PURCHASED

The state industrial commission had paid out $305,000 up to October 31 for state soldiers' bonus claims, under the commission's plan of purchasing the claims in advance of the time of payment from taxes, according to John Gammons, secretary of the commission. Approximately 850 claims have been purchased. Claims are being purchased at the rate of $10,000 a day, according to Mr. Gammons.

Four states have more than a million acres registered in each.

ONE KILLED IN FIGHTING NEAR POLLING PLACE

First Fatality of the Election Is Reported From Chicago Today

TWO KILLED

Jackson, Tenn., Nov. 4.—D. W. Bartholomew, 70, judge in a polling precinct at Middlesburg, Tenn., and his son, J. L. Bartholomew, 40, are reported to have been killed and Prof. W. W. Rogers wounded shortly before noon today by Dan G. Powers, 30, who was defeated in the August primary as a Republican candidate for magistrate in Henderson county, according to advices received here from Lexington, county seat of Henderson county.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—One man was shot and killed and another was probably fatally wounded in a revolver fight near a polling place where voters were balloting today. Early police reports indicated the shooting was connected with factional trouble of a teamsters' union and the precinct election officials said they knew nothing about it.

The man killed has not been identified.

The other man who was wounded was taken to a hospital. The wounded man and the slain person are said to have been riding in an automobile when several men in another machine drew up alongside and opened fire. The assailants escaped.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Anton Rudzinski was shot and probably fatally injured today after he had gone to a polling place to vote. The police began a search for several men without any information as to the cause of the shooting. The attack was the first violence in connection with the election.

Rudzinski dropped when a fusillade of perhaps 10 shots was fired in and about the polling place on West 45th street, east of the stockyards. The wounded man, who is 47 years old and a teamster, had not been active politically and the police are uncertain whether he was the intended target or the victim of a mistake.

The victim had found a line of men ahead of him and fearing he would be late at work he started to leave when the shooting occurred. The shots were fired from a black automobile. The police learned that several men shortly before had appeared at the polling place and asked for Michael Hastings, said to be Democratic precinct captain.

FOUND BLEEDING

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Nathan Fiensette, LaFollette chairman of the 46th ward, was found bleeding in the streets near a polling place today, the result of having been slugged, police reported.

PATROL HERRIN

Herrin, Ill., Nov. 4.—Seventy-five national guardsmen, some with fixed bayonets, patrolled Williamson county today to prevent threatened clashes between the Ku Klux Klan and its opponents.

Heavy voting was reported in the early hours with no semblance of disorder. At each precinct outside of Herrin, two militia men were stationed to keep the crowds moving. Citizens said that with military protection it was hoped bloodshed would be averted.

MRS. HARDING IMPROVING

Marion, O., Nov. 4.—Mrs. Florence Kling Harding, widow of President Harding, who has been seriously ill for the last two weeks, is improving, Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, her physician, said in a statement this morning.

WOMAN, 104, MAN 90, CAST VOTES

Jamestown, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Among the first voters in the polls in Jamestown today was Amy Price, 104 years old. She took her place in the line of voters, waited her turn and had no help in the manipulation of the vote machine.

VOTES FOR 22 PRESIDENTS

Jamestown, N. Y., Nov. 4.—When William Howard, aged 90, cast his ballot today for president it was the 18th time he had voted for a president. He began when 22, voting for John C. Fremont in 1856. Mr. Howard says he does not believe any other man in the country has a longer record of consecutive votes than he.

ELECTION RETURNS POSTED AT BIG MUNICIPAL SHOW STAGED BY ASSOCIATION OF COMMERCE

No election returns will be displayed in the Tribune office or other this evening. Complete returns will be displayed at the Auditorium starting at 7:30 p. m. and lasting as long as the crowd cares to stay. The evening's entertainment of vaudeville, the Juvenile Band will play, and there will be a tumbling act—there will be a show every minute.

Tickets for the big community show of the Association of Commerce are one dollar. Proceeds go to finance the band through the winter months.

Readers and patrons are asked not to go to the Tribune for election returns this evening. All Tribune reports will be busy collecting returns and calls for information will merely slow down the machinery engaged in securing reports from this and other states.

The Western Union and Tribune are furnishing returns to the Auditorium show and they will be as complete as possible.

Two shows; one at 7:30 and one at 9 p. m. Come to first show if you like and stay as long as you like. No reserved seats. First come, first served.

Help Boost the "Kiddies Band."

PULLS TRIGGER, SISTER DIES

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 4.—Playfully pointing a shotgun at Mary Mikovitch, aged 9, Frank, her 12-year-old brother, pulled the trigger and fatally injured her late yesterday on their farm north of Nashwauk.

The girl received a wound in her left leg, and died before she could be taken to a hospital. Death resulted from loss of blood, according to physicians.

CAMPAIGN IS ASSERTED ONE OF PRINCIPLE

Public Ownership Program of Nonpartisan League Dangerous, Says Halvorson

MANY HEAR CANDIDATE

Declaring that he opposed the state ownership program of the Nonpartisan League as a matter of principle, Halvor L. Halvorson, coalition candidate for governor, closed the independent speaking campaign here last night. He appeared at the City Auditorium with Attorney-General George F. Shafer.

"You can't take state funds and invest them in these state enterprises unless you are willing to spend tax money," said Mr. Halvorson. "In my judgment, some of the debt now existing as a result of this program will not be liquidated in the life-time of most of the people in this hall. We independent say we do not want to engage in this industrial program of the league."

Mr. Halvorson declared a fatal defect in the public ownership plan in the state was that adequate protection cannot be afforded the taxpayer. Men are hired to run the businesses, whose chief interest is to retain their places, he said, and they cannot be expected to make the close decisions necessary to insure success for private enterprise.

He likened the program to a farmer who told his hired man he was going to Europe for two years, and left the hired man to run the farm, with an unlimited bank account to draw on. The personal interest necessary for success would be lacking, he said.

"Private business fails 90 percent of the time, Dunn and Bradstreet tell us, where men have their own capital invested, and work 12 to 15 hours a day and burn midnight oil," said Mr. Halvorson. "What can you expect when the state must place its business entirely in the hands of hired men? There never has been a more dangerous theory proposed in the state than this industrial program of the Nonpartisan League."

Mr. Halvorson spoke to an audience that filled the Auditorium, many standing down stairs.

BUS STRUCK, 11 KILLED

Newport News, Va., Nov. 4.—Eleven persons were killed and four others seriously injured last yesterday when a bus was struck by a fast Chesapeake & Ohio passenger train at Lees Crossing near Hampton, Va.

The bus which was crowded at the time of the accident was demolished and the bodies of some of those killed were so mangled that identification was possible only by means of articles of jewelry and other bits of personal property. The injured are in hospitals, several of whom are not expected to live.

ELECTION HELD MOST TANGLED IN U. S. HISTORY

Three-Cornered Presidential Fight Makes Possible Deadlock on Presidency

WOULD GO TO HOUSE

34 Senators, 31 Governors, Members of House of Representatives to be Chosen

Washington, Nov. 4.—The largest electorate that ever cast a vote in any nation undertook today the task of unraveling the tangle in modern American history.

With three major candidates in the field for President; with a full membership of the House to be chosen, with 34 Senators and 34 Governors to be elected and with thousands of lesser offices to be filled, the increasing millions of qualified voters of the nation began their march to the polls at dawn and throughout the length and breadth of the land, under generally fair weather conditions. They continued all day to record their will.

Four months of fervent oratory, charges, recriminations, accusations, claims, predictions and warnings were stored in the thoughts of the voters as they marked their decisions on their ballots.

The Last Pleas

Ring in their ears were the final pleas of the three major aspirants for the presidency. The Republican and Democratic standard bearers, Calvin Coolidge and John W. Davis, established a precedent in political campaigning by addressing an eleventh hour radio appeal by an audience that reached from coast to coast. Senator LaFollette closed his case with a statement to the voters.

The vice-presidential candidates, all of whom have been under the strain of campaigning, found themselves adjacent to voting booths, except Senator Wheeler, the independent candidate, who took advantage of the mail voting privilege to send his ballot to Montana. General Dawes voted in Evanston and Governor Bryan returned to Lincoln, Nebraska, in time to cast his ballot.

Tangled Aspect

One of the most tangled aspects of today's balloting, which will not be solved probably for several days, is the problem presented by the splitting of the tickets.

There was no one to predict with any air of authority the trend that split might take. Of the 435 seats in the House, which the Republicans now are counting the LaFollette group, the Democrats 206, and the independents in various parts of the country there are alignments of all sorts. Even the most sophisticated politician to hesitate to forecast the completion of the next house, although both Democratic and Republican managers have formally placed their claims of victory.

Labor's Attitude

The entry into the situation of the railroad brotherhoods and the American Federation of Labor in support of Senator LaFollette and their action at the same time in working for the election of many members to Congress favorable to labor is another factor, which is hard for political prophets to fathom. Both the Democratic and Republican managers have scouted the idea that labor would desert the older parties. Today's results will throw a light on the trend of modern American political thought.

One of the possibilities, widely discussed, is the possibility of a deadlock in the electoral college. The individual voter does not vote directly for a president, but for a group of electors to represent his state and cast the state's proportionate vote for President. The original theory of the Constitution was that the electors thus chosen would follow their own inclinations in choosing a chief executive. In practice, however, it has become an unbroken tradition that an elector votes for the candidate of that party to which he belongs.

May Go To House

Should an insufficient number of states to choose a President give their support to any one party and should all of the electors follow tradition and vote for the candidates of their party the work of the entire group of electors would go for nothing. There would be a deadlock and under the Constitution the House of Representatives would be called on to choose a president and the Senate a Vice-President. The presidential election, should it be thrown into the House, would be delayed under a Constitutional provision until February.

The Republicans now have 49 seats in the Senate, a bare majority of one, and that number includes the LaFollette group. The Democrats hold 43 places and the Farmer-Labor Party two. Today nine solid Democrat states elect Senators. Of the 34 states where Governors are to be elected, 15 seats (Continued on page 12)

Chicago, Nov. 4.—One man was shot and killed and another was probably fatally wounded in a revolver fight near a polling place where voters were balloting today.

Early police reports indicated the shooting was connected with factional trouble of a teamsters' union and the precinct election officials said they knew nothing about it. The man killed has not been identified.

The other man who was wounded was taken to a hospital. The wounded man and the slain person are said to have been riding in an automobile when several men in another machine drew up alongside and opened fire. The assailants escaped.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Anton Rudzinski was shot and probably fatally injured today after he had gone to a polling place to vote. The police began a search for several men without any information as to the cause of the shooting. The attack was the first violence in connection with the election.

Rudzinski dropped when a fusillade of perhaps 10 shots was fired in and about the polling place on West 45th street, east of the stockyards. The wounded man, who is 47 years old and a teamster, had not been active politically and the police are uncertain whether he was the intended target or the victim of a mistake.

The victim had found a line of men ahead of him and fearing he would be late at work he started to leave when the shooting occurred. The shots were fired from a black automobile. The police learned that several men shortly before had appeared at the polling place and asked for Michael Hastings, said to be Democratic precinct captain.

FOUND BLEEDING

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Nathan Fiennes, LaFollette chairman of the 46th ward, was found bleeding in the streets near a polling place today, the result of having been slugged, police reported.

PATROL HERRIN

Herrin, Ill., Nov. 4.—Seventy-five national guardsmen, some with fixed bayonets, patrolled Williamson county today to prevent threatened clashes between the Ku Klux Klan and its opponents.

Heavy voting was reported in the early hours with no semblance of disorder. At each precinct outside of Herrin, two militia men were stationed to keep the crowds moving. Citizens said that with military protection it was hoped bloodshed would be averted.

MRS. HARDING IMPROVING

Marion, O., Nov. 4.—Mrs. Florence Kling Harding, widow of President Harding, who has been seriously ill for the last two weeks, is improving, Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, her physician, said in a statement this morning.

WOMAN, 104, MAN 90, CAST VOTES

Jamestown, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Among the first voters in the polls in Jamestown today was Amy Price, 104 years old. She took her place in the line of voters, waited her turn and had no help in the manipulation of the vote machine.

VOTES FOR 22 PRESIDENTS

Janesville, Wis., Nov. 4.—When William Howard aged 90, cast his ballot today for president it was the 18th time he had voted for a president. He began when 22, voting for John C. Fremont in 1856. Mr. Howard says he does not believe any other man in the country has a longer record of consecutive votes than he.

ELECTION RETURNS POSTED AT BIG MUNICIPAL SHOW STAGED BY ASSOCIATION OF COMMERCE

No election returns will be displayed at the Tribune office or corner this evening. Complete returns will be displayed at the Auditorium starting at 7:30 p. m. and lasting as long as the crowd cares to stay. There will be four acts of vaudeville, the Juvenile Band will play, MacLeod's boys will put on a tumbling act—there will be something doing every minute.

Tickets for the big community show under the auspices of the Association of Commerce are one dollar. Proceeds go to finance the band through the winter months.

Readers and patrons are asked not to call the Tribune for election returns this evening. All Tribune wires will be busy collecting returns and calls for information will merely slow down the machinery engaged in securing reports from this and other states.

The Western Union and Tribune are furnishing returns to the Auditorium show and they will be as complete as possible.

Two shows; one at 7:30 and one at 9 p. m. Come to first show if you like and stay as long as you like. No reserved seats. First come, first served.

Help Boost the "Kiddies Band."

PULLS TRIGGER, SISTER DIES

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 4.—Playfully pointing a shotgun at Mary Mikovich, aged 9, Frank, her 12-year-old brother, pulled the trigger and fatally injured her late yesterday on their farm north of Nashua.

The girl received a wound in her left leg, and died before she could be taken to a hospital. Death resulted from loss of blood, according to physicians.

CAMPAIGN IS ASSERTED ONE OF PRINCIPLE

Public Ownership Program of Nonpartisan League Dangerous, Says Halvorson

Declaring that he opposed the state ownership program of the Nonpartisan League as a matter of principle, Halvor L. Halvorson, coalition candidate for governor, closed the independent speaking campaign here last night. He appeared at the City Auditorium with Attorney-General George F. Shafer.

"You can't take state funds and invest them in these state enterprises unless you are willing to spend tax money," said Mr. Halvorson. "In my judgment, some of the debt now existing as a result of this program will not be liquidated in the life-time of most of the people in this hall. We independent say we do not want to engage in this industrial program of the league."

Mr. Halvorson declared a fatal defect in the public ownership program in the state was that adequate protection cannot be afforded the taxpayer. Men are hired to run the businesses, whose chief interest is to retain their places, he said, and they cannot be expected to make the close decisions necessary to insure success for private enterprise.

He likened the program to a farmer who told his hired man he was going to Europe for two years, and left the hired man to run the farm, with an unlimited bank account to draw on. The personal interest necessary for success would be lacking, he said.

"Private business fails 90 percent of the time, Dunn and Bradstreet tell us, where men have their own capital invested, and work 12 to 15 hours a day and burn midnight oil," said Mr. Halvorson. "What can you expect when the state must place its business entirely in the hands of hired men? There never has been a more dangerous theory proposed in the state than this industrial program of the Nonpartisan League."

Mr. Halvorson spoke to an audience that filled the Auditorium, many standing down stairs.

BUS STRUCK, 11 KILLED

Newport News, Va., Nov. 4.—Eleven persons were killed and four others seriously injured late yesterday when a bus was struck by a fast Chesapeake & Ohio passenger train at Lees Crossing near Hampton, Va. The bus which was crowded at the time of the accident was demolished and the bodies of some of those killed were so mangled that identification was possible only by means of articles of jewelry and other bits of personal property. The injured are in hospitals, several of whom are not expected to live.

ELECTION HELD MOST TANGLED IN U. S. HISTORY

Three-Cornered Presidential Fight Makes Possible Deadlock on Presidency

WOULD GO TO HOUSE

34 Senators, 31 Governors, Members of House of Representatives to be Chosen

Washington, Nov. 4.—The largest election in the country since any nation undertook today the task of unraveling the tangle in modern American history.

With three major candidates in the field for President; with a full membership of the House to be chosen, with 34 Senators and 36 Governors to be elected and with thousands of lesser offices to be filled, the increasing millions of qualified voters of the nation began their march to the polls at dawn and throughout the length and breadth of the land, under generally fair weather conditions. They continued all day to record their will.

Four months of fervent oratory, charges, recriminations, accusations, claims, predictions and warnings were stored in the thoughts of the voters as they marked their decisions on their ballots.

The Last Pleas

Ring in their ears were the final pleas of the three major aspirants for the presidency. The Republican and Democratic standard bearers, Calvin Coolidge and John W. Davis, established a precedent in political campaigning by addressing an eleventh hour radio appeal by an audience that reached from coast to coast. Senator LaFollette closed his case with a statement to the voters.

The vice-presidential candidates, all of whom have been under the strain of campaigning, found themselves adjacent to voting booths, except Senator Wheeler, the independent candidate, who took advantage of the mail voting privilege to send his ballot to Montana. General Dawes voted in Evanston and Governor Bryan returned to Lincoln, Nebraska, in time to cast his ballot.

Tangled Aspects

One of the most tangled aspects of today's balloting, which will not be solved probably for several days, is the problem presented by the splitting of the tickets. There was no one able to predict with any fair confidence the true split might take. There are 435 seats in the House, of which the Republicans now hold 220, counting the LaFollette group, and the Democrats 206, and in the voting today in various parts of the country in various alignments, independents and unusual combinations of political groups which caused even the most sophisticated politician to hesitate to forecast the completion of the next house, although both Democratic and Republican managers have formally placed their claims of victory.

Lawyer's Attitude

The entry into the situation of the railroad brotherhoods and the American Federation of Labor in support of Senator LaFollette and their action at the same time in working for the election of many members to Congress favorable to labor is another factor which is hard for political prophets to fathom. Both the Democratic and Republican managers have scouted the idea that labor would desert the older parties. Today's results will throw a light on the trend of modern American political thought.

One of the possibilities, widely discussed, is the possibility of a deadlock in the electoral college. The individual voter does not vote directly for a president, but for a group of electors to represent his state and cast the state's proportionate vote for President. The original theory of the Constitution was that the electors thus chosen would follow their own inclinations in choosing a chief executive. In practice, however, it has become an unbroken tradition that an elector votes for the candidate of that party to which he belongs.

May Go To House

Should an insufficient number of states to choose a President vote their support to any one party and should all of the electors follow tradition and vote for the candidates of their party the work of the entire group of electors would go for nothing. There would be a deadlock and under the Constitution the House of Representatives would be called on to choose a president and the Senate a Vice-President. The presidential election, should it be thrown into the House, would be delayed under a Constitutional provision until February.

The Republicans now have 49 seats in the Senate, a bare majority of one, and that number includes the LaFollette group. The Democrats hold 43 places and the Farmers-Labor Party two. Today nine solid Democrat states elect Senators. Of the 34 states where Governors are to be elected, 19 seats (Continued on page 9)

WARNING TO JUDGES OF ELECTION

It has been rumored that objections would be raised to the Judges of Election appointed by me as chairman of Democratic County Committee on the ground that I am candidate for office in this election.

I have secured an opinion from the Attorney General on the point in question.

THE CONCLUSION OF HIS OPINION IS AS FOLLOWS:

"The fact that a judge may have been nominated by a chairman who is himself a candidate makes no difference and does not disqualify such person from acting, nor can an inspector of election by virtue thereof, refuse to appoint him, or refuse to permit him to act.

WEATHER IS NEAR NORMAL

Weather Bureau Summary Shows Nothing Unusual

Weather in North Dakota during the ten months of the year 1924 past, has been pretty close to normal, the monthly meteorological summary of the weather bureau, issued today, shows.

Although the crop season has been unusually satisfactory from the standpoint of moisture, the weather bureau record shows an accumulated excess over normal of but 0.03 to 0.09 of an inch for the year. In spite of the mild winter after last January, the temperature record shows an accumulated excess of but 0.8 degrees daily during the year thus far.

October also held pretty close to normal. The percentage of sunshine, which was 57 percent of possible, was three percent under normal. There were 14 clear days, five partly cloudy and 12 cloudy. The temperature was 8.1 degrees above normal for the month. The rainfall during the month was 2.02 inches, or .98 of an inch above normal.

To the Voters of Burleigh County

When I announced myself for re-election for the office of Register of Deeds at the Primaries last June, I stated in my announcement, I did not think it was necessary for me to make any campaign for nearly all the voters know who I am. I have cut the expense in the office and have devoted all my time to the duties of the office. If elected I will continue to give you good service.

BULLETS WON THE BALLOT

Your ancestors were slaves. And you don't have to go back far in history. They may not have been actually put up on the block and sold to the highest bidder. But they were slaves of their rulers—without any voice in how they were to be governed.

Bullets won the ballot for you.

It took much bloodshed, centuries of dogged effort, before the common people obtained the power to rule themselves.

Today every American citizen has what those millions of the past struggled for—self-government.

It is a sacred inheritance, this privilege of being governed by a majority instead of exploited by and for a minority.

But unless you vote, you might just as well be ruled by a czar. Failing to vote, you have no choice in government.

In the 1920 presidential election, less than 27 million Americans voted, while 25 millions who were eligible to vote stayed away from the polls.

This brings us close to government by minority, which would undo centuries upon centuries of struggle for political freedom.

Rally to preserve democracy—government by majority.

Vote without fail! Vote without fail!

Vote without fail!

YOUR vote is needed! YOUR vote is needed! YOUR vote is needed!

E. T. Cutter, Division Manager Associated Press, Tells About A. P. Method

HOW IT STARTED

Publishers Organized Non-Profit Organization To Give Reliable News

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Clean and constructive news has been the steadfast aim of The Associated Press, said Edgar T. Cutter, superintendent of the Central division, in a talk delivered to students of the Mead School of Journalism.

"Constructive news is one of the most vital things of the time," Mr. Cutter asserted. "The Associated Press has always striven to handle only decent, reliable news, to do no injury and to be constructive."

The giant election machine set up by The Associated Press, extending into every hamlet in the United States, was explained by Mr. Cutter. Twenty-six thousand persons are involved in gathering the returns for which approximately a quarter of a million dollars is expended.

Gathering Returns

"At no time more than during a national political campaign is there so general inquiry about 'The Associated Press—How it Functions,'" Mr. Cutter said. "The present campaign, one of the most intense of our times, has increased to a marked degree a desire to know how the speeches of candidates and the polling on November 4 are covered."

So it is a very pleasant assignment to be asked to tell you, the men and women who in four years doubtless will be deep in the work of another campaign, just how The Associated Press does operate.

"First, I want to give you a bit of history about this organization, that has been praised by the peoples of all countries and misunderstood by our very neighbors. Seventy-five years ago, at a time when our forebears were actively engaged in developing this wonderful country of ours, still new and crude, there were no cables under the Atlantic, telegraph was only just being experimented with, and I doubt if airplanes and radios even existed in sheer imaginations. Gathering news was a new and pretty expensive proposition and publishers depended upon forces of only a few men to get out their papers, at best indifferent sheets.

"Staggering steamers brought weekly budgets of news from Europe and they were not filled with the thrills of the columns of intimate happenings at foreign capitals that we now have so readily. Next, it was an individual enterprise then, only one or two men engaging in it. I doubt if a 'beat' on a piece of news two weeks old caused much excitement on the staffs of the New York papers. Certainly it could not get much attention today when the competition is so keen that newspapers and press associations count as well done an exclusive story handed a few minutes, or even seconds ahead of their competitors.

"But the interest in news gathering grew and alert men resorted to pigeons and other carriers to land their stories ahead.

"Presently the New York newspapers, the strongest of any on the Atlantic coast, felt the first pinch that later became so general of any individual effort to collect news. They pooled their interests and finally formed a news association. This in time spread to the north and the south, and a spirit of cooperation sprang up. Publishers early agreed that it was a big job and a costly one, and they were glad to work together on it.

Morse Telegraphy

"When Morse telegraphy came along and then the Atlantic cable was laid, a new stimulus was given to that great work that you students today find so entrancing. Newspapers in other parts of the country formed similar associations. There was a New York Associated Press, a New England association, a Southern association and a Western association. They were patterned after the original organization very closely, and exchanged their news through a mutual arrangement. It is timely, as it is easy to see now, that these organizations were to come together as one, for news knew no state boundary line and the needs of all newspapers were too common to admit of continuing alone.

"Well, out of this grew The Associated Press, without any sectional qualifications in its name, an organization that as we know it today took in every state in the Union. Publishers everywhere spoke of this as a great achievement, indeed one of the most forward steps ever made in our country, for it brought together in instant touch all the states of our beloved land, and gave to America the prestige of having the first thoroughly equipped machine with which to exchange the happenings of this biggest of world neighborhoods.

"It was really more than any mere agreement of a large number of business enterprises to work for a given purpose, for instance, as a string of stores. It opened up a roadway across the country for one thing, which, as Thomas A. Edison said, gave our government an artery of the utmost value in time of stress. That was proven during the Big War when the great newspapers lent all their efforts that we might do our part in the most stupendous of all conflicts.

Early Publishers

"I should tell you that early in the life of The Associated Press the newspaper publishers of the country, and they stand out as the greatest men of our century, determined news should be pure at the source. There was no argument on that point. Other things came up to test the staunchness of those men, but they all agreed that if news were not to be accurate, constructive, but a tremendous injury could be done our people. Designing politicians or business men with pet schemes to foist upon the public might use such an organization for selfish gain unless news was safeguarded.

"Can you think of anything more destructive to the welfare of our country than that its citizens should have placed before them in their daily newspapers false news about politics, religion, business and social life? It would create the greatest chaos and work an eternal wrong, especially among the unthinking, the man and woman whose only book is his newspaper.

"So those who made up The Associated Press determined that their association should be non-money making. Only such money as was needed to carry on would be asked of the members, and they were to be assessed, big and little, according to the size of their papers and the territories they served. This cost was to be prorated fairly. Any surplus was not to go back into the hands of its individual members for selfish purposes. However, certain funds were to be held in reserve, to meet extraordinary news conditions, as a war, calling for added reports, or some other big piece of world news, and also to provide an insurance and disability fund for its employees. But that was to be all.

"Then they decided it was not to be partisan. Politics should have no weight in determining whether or not a man might be elected to membership. He might be a republican, a democrat, a socialist, a progressive, or belong to any party. The purpose of the association was to cover the world's happenings as they developed, and not to handle editorial on this or that party.

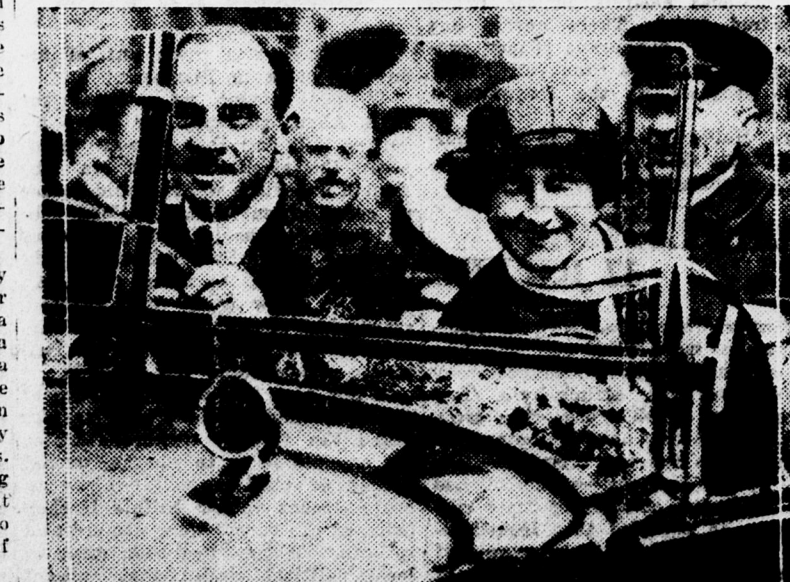

"Then it decided upon another big principle, and it was this: The Associated Press was to be non-sectarian. Its members might be Protestant or Catholic, they might be Jew or Gentile, Spanish or Japanese, English or French, it made no difference so long as they were in agreement upon the general purpose to handle news from a purely news standpoint.

Cooperative Effort

"It was not difficult for the publishers of various creeds and differing politics to agree upon this, for they readily saw their one mutual purpose was to spread the news. Each could have his own editorial opinions and air them, but he did not choose to have his general news source polluted. You see it was not a trust, as some have tried to make people believe, but a club operated much the same as any in our city, in which the members made the by laws and readily agreed to live up to them. Each member said at the start that he would collect the news of his own territory, and The Associated Press, with its wires and operators and editors, agreed to exchange this budget. It was in fact a cooperative effort.

"Charles Dana of The New York Sun said no such organization could exist, that no large number of men had ever successfully carried on the principle of cooperation. Another news agency started up as a money-making concern and this Mr. Dana predicted would succeed. But that great journalist proved to be wrong in his delusions, for the money-making concern became bankrupt while The Associated Press has been spoken of as the greatest example of successful cooperation in the world.

CASH BASIS IS HELD SUCCESS IN N. D. TRIAL

Tax Commissioner Finds Certificate of Indebtedness Plan Meets With Favor

CUTS INTEREST RATE

Takes Place of Old Warrant System, Reducing Interest Charges to Taxpayers

The law of the 1923 legislature, in placing taxing districts on a cash basis through substitution of certificates of indebtedness for warrants, has worked out satisfactorily, it is declared in the biennial report of C. J. Converse, state tax commissioner. This law was one of several passed by the legislature in revising tax laws.

The new issues have grown steadily in favor, and have cut the interest rate paid by districts, the report says.

"One of the purposes which actuated the legislature in enacting Chapter 236 (House Bill No. 129), Laws of 1923 was that of reducing the interest drain resulting from the practice of issuing warrants in excess of cash on hand," says the report.

"The legal rate of interest upon such warrants is 7 percent and under the conditions prevailing in recent years, owners of such warrants were generally required to discount them. The discount was seldom less than 5 percent resulting in a total interest charge of about 12 percent. There have been times during recent years when there was no market for the warrants at any reasonable rate of discount so that often the rate of discount was 10 percent and even 15 percent, while reports are not lacking to the effect that discounts as high as 25 percent were enacted in some instances.

RAIN MAKER'S FAME SPREAD

Hatfield Gets Inquiry From Africa

Hanford, Calif., Nov. 4.—The fame of Charles N. Hatfield as a result of his rain-making undertaking in California has reached Africa where he may have an opportunity to try his cunning on the Sahara desert. The Kings county Chamber of Commerce announced today it had received an inquiry concerning Hatfield from Tunis, West Africa.

The Chamber will reply that the farmers in this vicinity recently paid Hatfield $8,000 for making it rain. Whether Hatfield was responsible or not it did rain 2.29 inches between March 15 and April 15 over an area 75 miles in diameter after the "rain maker" had "shot his tricks" with fumes from chemicals.

YOUTH KICKED BY COLT, DIES

Fargo, Nov. 4.—Glenn Hoefling, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hoefling, farmers of near Georgetown, Minnesota, died in a Fargo hospital early this morning of injuries received Sunday afternoon when he was kicked by a colt. He died from a hemorrhage shock and a ruptured liver.

PUBLISHER IS ARRESTED

Brainerd, Minn., Nov. 4.—John L. Morrison, Duluth publisher, who is wanted at Duluth on two charges of criminal libel, was arrested here late yesterday.

Last week Victor L. Power, Republican candidate for congress, swore out a criminal libel warrant against Morrison and filed suit against the publisher for the sum of $50,000. Both warrants were placed with the local police for service against Morrison.

Taken to local police headquarters this afternoon, Morrison was released in the custody of a friend.

CITY WATER REPORT MADE

Report on the city water for the past month was made to the city commission last night by A. W. Elklund, city bacteriologist. He reported the water with one exception was found in excellent condition.

On October 25, he found the presence of bacteria was found, which he learned was due to a minor difficulty in the plant. He recommended that the water, the plant be shut down and examination made. There is water enough in reservoir to serve the town for several days, he said, and there is no need of pumping turbid water.

London To Have A Cheap Theater

London, Nov. 4.—A playhouse where seats may be bought for sixpence and a shilling is to be opened shortly through the efforts of a band of parliamentarians, including Mr. Lloyd George, Lady Astor and Mr. Stanley Baldwin, who have started a campaign to raise £500 necessary to open the house. Only popular drama and comedies will be presented.

DEPOSED CHINA LEADER FLEES

General Wu Pei-Fu Seeks Refuge on Gulf of Chihli

Peking, China, Nov. 4.—General Wu Pei-fu, former commander-in-chief of the military forces, has fled to Tangku on the gulf of Chihli about 30 miles from Tientsin, it is reported today at the headquarters of Feng Yu-Hsiang, "the Christian general," now in control here.

This is regarded here as spelling the end of the present conflict between Wu Pei-fu and Feng. The only remaining menace to Peking are large bodies of troops which are left without proper control.

CONFIRM REPORT

Tokio, Nov. 4.—Wu Pei-fu, the deposed Peking commander-in-chief, has fled, boarding a steamer, near Tientsin for a destination unknown, but presumably Kiangsu province, where the Tsuchun Chieh-shih-yuan still is believed to be loyal, according to a Kokusai dispatch from Tientsin.

VOTE DRIVE PLAN IS TOLD

Kiwanis Club Hears of Efforts of Committees

The work of Bismarck civic organizations in urging a full vote in Tuesday's election was told to the Kiwanis club, at its luncheon yesterday, by Benton Baker, general chairman of the committee. Mr. Baker said that committees representing the Lions, Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs and the American Legion met and formulated its campaign, the principal objectives of which were to obtain signatures of members to the pledge to vote themselves, families and employees before noon; the proclamation of 5,000 tags to be distributed to voting places. The pledge was signed by 104 individuals and business houses. Each voter who votes tomorrow will be given a tag reading "I have voted—have you?"

Mr. Baker reported splendid cooperation in the effort.

Dr. N. O. Ramstad gave a report on the result of the ticket sale for the band benefit, and urged attendance at the election night party, who sold more tickets than any one, was called upon to explain how he made the remarkable record.

The letter of the North Dakota Education Association, opposing the tax reduction bill, was read. Mrs. Herman Scheffer sang a group of songs, and was given a vote of thanks and floral offering by the club. L. V. Miller was chairman of the day.

VOTING ON COUNTY AGENT

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 4.—Eight counties in North Dakota will vote today on the proposition of endorsing county agricultural extension work, commonly known as county agent work.

In Bottineau, Adams, Foster and Mercer counties, electors will vote on the question of continuing county agent work these counties now having county agents.

In Steele, Traill, Hettinger and Golden Valley counties, voters will pass upon the proposition of initiating such work.

A special situation has arisen in Burke county, where, after varied legal proceedings, an injunction was obtained restraining the auditor and sheriff from distributing ballots providing for vote on the question of continuing county agent work in that county. By the time the order was issued, ballots had been distributed to 21 of the 39 precincts in the county. An order restraining canvass of the votes will be asked, according to counsel for opponents of a vote.

In Morton county an order has been issued restraining the county commission and auditor from placing on the ballot the question of continuing county agent work, on the ground that petitions asking the vote did not carry 15 percent of the taxpayers.

County agent work is now being carried on in 34 of the 53 counties of the state. Citizens in Golden Valley county have been financing the work there.

LOCAL PEOPLE HEAR COOLIDGE

Many Bismarck people last night heard the plea of President Calvin Coolidge to the people of the nation to cast a full vote today. The speech was carried by the leading radio stations of the country. Howard Light, reporting the fact, said that he heard the address broadcast from a Buffalo station.

President Coolidge told his audience it was a non-political address, stating it was the duty of every citizen to vote. He urged them to approach the matter as a sacrament, rather than as a duty. He also quoted from a speech of George Washington praising the part women took in the winning of the Revolutionary War.

Before President Coolidge hid his audience good night, he said good night to his father, listening in Vermont.

Many also heard the address by John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for President.

ONE KILLED IN N.P. TRAIN-AUTO CRASH SUNDAY

Casselton, Man Killed, Wife, Small Son, Step-Father, Are Injured

Fargo, Nov. 4.—Clarence McKay of Casselton, near here, was instantly killed and his wife, a small son and step-father are in a Fargo hospital with serious injuries sustained when their automobile was demolished by a Northern Pacific freight train at a crossing at Casselton Sunday afternoon.

There were five passengers in the car. Mr. and Mrs. McKay, a son, Kenneth, two and one-half years old, a baby one year old and Mr. McKay's step father, J. P. Barnes of Wheatland.

Mrs. McKay has a fractured right leg and several bad bruises on her face and body. Mr. Barnes has a fractured left hip, a badly bruised hand and several body bruises. Kenneth's jaw was broken and he sustained several bad body bruises. The baby was the only one that escaped serious injury.

The accident occurred as the car neared the crossing near the electric light plant in Casselton and the noise made by the steam from the plant, it was said, made it impossible to hear the on-coming freight.

RING-LEADER IS EXECUTED

Persian Government Carries Out Sentence

Washington, Nov. 4.—Execution by the Persian government of Seyid Hussein, ring-leader of the mob which killed American vice-consul in Teheran, was reported officially to the state department. Another man was executed for the crime at the same time.

The death sentences were carried out after the Washington government had decided that the two men must receive the extreme penalty despite a decision by the Persian cabinet to commute their sentences. A third man found guilty and sentenced to death was executed some time ago.

THREE DIE IN FISHING TRIP

Mystery Surrounds Death of Minneapolis Man

Minneapolis, Nov. 4.—Bodies of three Minneapolis men, who met death while on a fishing and hunting trip, were found by deputy sheriffs Sunday at Twin Lakes in Brooklyn Center township, Hennepin county. The dead are:

James M. Dahl, 42 years old, 3901 Queen avenue north, a woodworker; Aslak Tonstad, 30 years old, 3901 Queen avenue north, a woodworker; Bernhard Hanson, 42 years old, 3438 Russell avenue north, a carpenter.

Dahl's body was found in a boat. Tonstad's body on the shore, face down, and Hanson's body beside the boat, partly out of shallow water. There were evidences of a struggle which came, apparently after their small craft had capsized.

Lungs Are Empty

Dr. Gilbert Seashore, Hennepin county coroner, said death probably was caused by exposure. There was no water in the lungs, he said.

Dr. Seashore, who conducted a post mortem examination of the bodies of Dahl and Tonstad after the county morgue Sunday afternoon, said traces of alcohol were found in their stomachs. Hanson's stomach was not examined. Dahl is survived by a wife and six children. Tonstad was unmarried. Hanson leaves a wife.

Halvorson Has Good Rest in Bismarck Today

Halvor L. Halvorson, coalition candidate for Governor, enjoyed a good sleep in Bismarck today, after having spoken at the Auditorium last night. Mr. Halvorson had voted in Minot by absent voter's ballot. He planned to visit friends in Mandan today, and go to Fargo tonight, before returning to Minot.

Mr. Halvorson plainly showed the effects of the strenuous campaign, but his voice was in fair condition, and aside from a weariness that comes from the long grind of speech-making and hard traveling, he was in fine spirits.

DAWES VOTES IN EVANSTON

Candidate Quickly Marks His Ballot at Polls

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 4.—Marking his own ticket from a head pencil from his own pocket instead of the customary blue pencil furnished by election officials, Charles G. Dawes voted shortly before noon in the first precinct of the third ward, Evanston, Mrs. Dawes voted at the same time.

"I did not take you very long to mark your ballot," a friend remarked to Mrs. Dawes as she left the polling place.

"I had it all figured out myself, some days ago, inasmuch as Charles had declined to give me any advice," she answered.

PRESIDENT'S FATHER VOTES

Plymouth, Vt., Nov. 4. Col. John Coolidge, father of the President, was the first to cast his vote when the polls opened in this town, the President's birthplace. Col. Coolidge hitched up his blouse and huggy and drove to the voting place, accompanied by his housekeeper. There the ballots were cast in boxes, which were better pads improvised.

"VOTES HER STRAIGHT"

Leicester Valley, N. Y., Nov. 4. John W. Davis voted in Glenn Cove shortly before noon today. His ballot was number 232, and he said when he stepped out of the booth it might be safely assumed he had voted "the Democratic ticket straight." Mrs. Davis accompanied the candidate.

LAFOLLETTE AT HOME

Madison, Wis., Nov. 4.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette, independent presidential candidate, went to the Dane county courthouse early today and cast his ballot, accompanied by his sons, Robert Jr. and Philip. Mr. LaFollette will spend the rest of the day with friends and at Maple Bluff, his farm home, just outside of Madison and receive election returns tonight at the state house.

All Military to be Out of the City Tomorrow, Commander Says

Niles, Ohio, Nov. 4. (By the A.P.)—With peace and order restored here, military, county and city officials today turned their attention to fixing the responsibility for Saturday's rioting between the Ku Klux Klan and the anti-Klansmen, which occurred while Klansmen were parading to parade.

The list of those wounded as a result of the skirmishes remained at 13.

Only a comparatively few National Guardsmen remained on duty. Most of these, Major-General Hough, in charge of the city, proclaimed under qualified order today. Hough said would be home in time to cast their ballots in tomorrow's election.

Investigation into the rioting, which was started by military authorities yesterday, was continued today.

What My Neighbor Says

Is of Interest to Bismarck Folks.

When one has had the misfortune to suffer from backache, headaches, dizziness, urinary disorders and other kidney ills and has found relief from all this sickness and suffering, that person's advice is of an old value to friends and neighbors. The following case is only one of many thousands, but it is that of a Bismarck resident. Who could ask for a better example?

Mrs. N. E. Reynolds, 417 Mandan Ave., says: "I suffered from pains through my back and kidneys and other symptoms of kidney trouble. My ankles swelled and I found it difficult to get my shoes on at times. After trying several remedies without the least help, I finally got Dean's Pills at the Lohmhart Drug Co. After using them, all of the trouble disappeared."

Over twelve years later, Mrs. Reynolds said: "I have used Dean's since and obtained prompt relief." Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy, get Dean's Pills, the same that Mrs. Reynolds had. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, N. Y., Adv.

Tax Commissioner Finds Certificate of Indebtedness Plan Meets With Favor

CUTS INTEREST RATE

Takes Place of Old Warrant System, Reducing Interest Charges to Taxpayers

The law of the 1923 legislature, in placing taxing districts on a cash basis through substitution of certificates of indebtedness for warrants, has worked out satisfactorily, it is declared in the biennial report of C. C. Converse, state tax commissioner. This law was one of several passed by the legislature in revising tax laws.

The new issues have grown steadily in favor, and have cut the interest rate paid by districts, the report says.

"One of the purposes which actuated the legislature in enacting Chapter 236 (House Bill No. 129), Laws of 1923 was that of reducing the interest drain resulting from the practice of issuing warrants in excess of cash on hand," says the report.

"The legal rate of interest upon such warrants is 7 percent and under the conditions prevailing in recent years, owners of such warrants were generally required to discount them at 15 percent, while reports are not lacking to the effect that discounts as high as 25 percent were enacted in some instances.

Desirable Investment

"In enacting Chapter 326, the legislature provided for the issuance of a new form of public security known as certificates of indebtedness and sought to surround them with such safe guards as to make of them a highly desirable form of investment with the purpose in view of obtaining a lower rate of interest. Some districts have not experienced much benefit from this act due in part to the fact that their borrowings have been for small amounts and for short terms. Other districts have found the law very helpful and have found ready market for their certificates at 6 percent or less, thus providing funds so that all obligations have been paid in cash. In addition to a saving in interest, they have found that in making purchases they are able to get better price quotations and save substantial amounts in that way. The new form of securities is steadily growing in favor, and there is reason to believe that they will continue to grow in favor with the investing public."

Some Changes Suggested

Suggestions for amendments to improve the act are submitted in the report, among them the advisability of increasing the maximum length of certificates of indebtedness, which is 18 months, permitting borrowings for any purpose for which the officials of the taxing district are authorized to spend public funds; and whether or not there should be a statutory limit upon the number of prior years, the uncollected taxes of which are used in calculating borrowing capacity.

"The day seems not far distant when all taxing districts in our state will be operating upon a cash basis and taking advantage of every opportunity to discount bills," says the tax commissioner's report. "This will put us in an enviable position in contrast with the average taxing district in many other states. The provision prohibiting the incurring of debts in excess of taxes already levied has met with general commendation as has also the provision making the county treasurer the custodian of sinking funds."

There is no adequate legislation covering the borrowing of money for short terms by the state, the report says, urging such provision be made by law.

DEPOSED CHINA LEADER FLEES

General Wu Pei-fu Seeks Refuge on Gulf of Chihli

Peking, China, Nov. 4.—General Wu Pei-fu, former commander-in-chief of the military forces, has fled to Tangku on the gulf of Chihli about 30 miles from Tientsin, it is reported today at the headquarters of Feng Yu-Hsiang, "the Christian general," now in control here.

This is regarded here as spelling the end of the present conflict between Wu Pei-fu and Feng. The only remaining menace to Peking are large bodies of troops which are left without proper control.

CONFIRM REPORT
Tokio, Nov. 4.—Wu Pei-fu, the deposed Peking commander-in-chief, has fled, boarding a steamer near Tientsin for a destination unknown, but presumably Kiangsu province, where the Tuchen Chishieh-yuan still is believed to be loyal, according to a Kokusai dispatch from Tientsin.

CAR WRECKED ON NEW ROAD

Mandan Family Suffers Injuries in Smash

Mrs. Fred C. R. Schulz of Mandan suffered severe cuts about the head and body and a shock, her 4-year-old daughter sustained a broken leg at a point above the right knee and Mr. Schulz was badly bruised when the Willis-Knight car in which they were riding turned over at the end of the detour on the Bismarck-Mandan road Saturday night.

Glaring lights of other cars and mistaking the red lantern detour signal for rear light car caused the accident. The car was badly wrecked.

RAIN MAKER'S FAME SPREAD

Hatfield Gets Inquiry From Africa

Hanford, Calif., Nov. 4.—The fame of Charles N. Hatfield as a result of his rain-making undertaking in California has reached Africa where he may have an opportunity to try his cunning on the Sahara desert. The Kings county Chamber of Commerce announced today it had received an inquiry concerning Hatfield from Tunis, West Africa.

The chamber will reply that the farmers in this vicinity recently paid Hatfield $8,000 for making it rain. Whether Hatfield was responsible or not it did rain 2.29 inches between March 15 and April 15 over an area 75 miles in diameter after the rain maker had "shot the skies" with fumes from chemicals.

YOUTH KICKED BY COLT, DIES

Fargo, Nov. 4.—Glenn Hoefing, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hoefing, farmers of near Georgetown, Minnesota, died in a Fargo hospital early this morning of injuries received Sunday afternoon when he was kicked by a colt. He died from a hemorrhage shock and a ruptured liver.

PUBLISHER IS ARRESTED

Brainerd, Minn., Nov. 4.—John L. Morrison, Duluth publisher, who is wanted at Duluth on two charges of criminal libel, was arrested here late yesterday.

Last week Victor L. Power, Republican candidate for congress, swore out a criminal libel warrant against Morrison and filed suit against the publisher for the sum of $50,000. Both warrants were placed with the local police for service against Morrison.

Taken to local police headquarters this afternoon, Morrison was released in the custody of a friend.

CITY WATER REPORT MADE

Report on the city water for the past month was made to the city commission last night by A. W. Eklund, city bacteriologist. He reported the water with one exception was found in excellent condition. On October 25, he said, presence of bacteria was found, which he learned was due to chemical difficulties at the plant. He recommended that whenever turbidity appears in the water, the plant be shut down and examination made. There is water enough in reservoirs to serve the town for several days, he said, and there is no need of pumping turbid water.

London To Have A Cheap Theater

London, Nov. 4.—A playhouse where seats may be bought for sixpence and a shilling is to be opened shortly through the efforts of a band of parliamentarians, including Mr. Lloyd George, Lady Astor and Mr. Stanley Baldwin, who have started a campaign to raise 1,500 necessary to open the house. Only popular dramas and comedies will be presented.

VOTE DRIVE PLAN IS TOLD

Kiwanis Club Hears of Efforts of Committees

The work of Bismarck civic organizations in urging a full vote in Tuesday's election was told to the Kiwanis club, at its luncheon yesterday, by Benton Baker, general chairman of the committee. Mr. Baker said that committees representing the Lions, Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs and the American Legion met and formulated its campaign, the principal objective of which were to obtain signatures of members to the pledge to vote themselves, families and employees before noon; the proclamation of the mayor, and the preparation of 5,000 tags to be distributed to voting places. The pledge was signed by 104 citizens and business houses. Each voter who votes tomorrow will be given a tag reading "I have voted—have you?"

Mr. Baker reported splendid cooperation in the effort.

Dr. N. O. Ramstad gave a report on the result of the ticket sale for the hand benefit, and urged attendance at the election night party at the Auditorium. Pat Byrne, who sold more tickets than any one, was called upon to explain how he made the remarkable record.

The letter of the North Dakota Education Association, opposing the tax reduction bill, was read. Mrs. Herman Scheffer sang a group of songs, and was given a vote of thanks and floral offering by the club. L. V. Miller was chairman of the day.

VOTING ON COUNTY AGENT

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 4.—Eight counties in North Dakota will vote today on the proposition of indorsing county agricultural extension work, commonly known as county agent work.

In Bottineau, Adams, Foster and Mercer counties, electors will vote on the question of continuing county agent work. These counties now having county agents.

In Steele, Traill, Hettinger and Golden Valley counties, voters will pass upon the proposition of initiating such work.

A special situation has arisen in Burke county, where, after varied legal proceedings, an injunction was obtained restraining the auditor and sheriff from distributing ballots providing for vote on the question of continuing county agent work in that county. By the time the order was issued, ballots had been distributed to 21 of the 39 precincts in the county. An order restraining canvass of the voters will be asked, according to counsel for opponents of a vote.

In Morton county an order has been issued restraining the county commission and auditor from placing on the ballot the question of continuing county agent work, on the ground that petitions asking the vote did not carry 15 percent of the taxpayers.

County agent work is now being carried on in 34 of the 53 counties of the state. Citizens in Golden Valley county have been financing the work there.

LOCAL PEOPLE HEAR COOLIDGE

Many Bismarck people last night heard the plea of President Calvin Coolidge to the people of the nation to cast a full vote today.

The speech was carried by the leading radio station of the country. Howard Light, reporting the fact, said that he heard the address broadcast from a Buffalo station.

President Coolidge told his audience it was a non-political address, stating it was the duty of every citizen to vote. He urged them to approach the matter as a sacrament, rather than as a duty. He also quoted from a speech of George Washington praising the part women took in the winning of the Revolutionary War.

Before President Coolidge bid his audience good night, he said good night to his father, listening in Vermont.

Many also heard the address by John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for President.

ONE KILLED IN N.P. TRAIN-AUTO CRASH SUNDAY

Cassellton Man Killed, Wife, Small Son, Step-Father, Are Injured

Fargo, Nov. 4.—Clarence McKay of Cassellton, near here, was instantly killed and his wife, a small son and step-father are in a Fargo hospital with serious injuries sustained when their automobile was demolished by a Northern Pacific freight train at a crossing at Cassellton Sunday afternoon.

There were five passengers in the car, Mr. and Mrs. McKay, a son, Kenneth, two and one-half years old, a baby one year old and Mr. McKay's step father, J. P. Barnes of Wheatland.

Mrs. McKay has a fractured right leg and several bad bruises on her face and body. Mr. Barnes has a fractured left hip, a badly bruised head and several deep lacerations. Kenneth's jaw was broken and he sustained several bad body bruises. The baby was the only one that escaped serious injury.

The accident occurred as the car neared the crossing near the electric light plant in Cassellton and the noise made by the passing of the train, it was said, made it impossible to hear the on-coming freight.

RING-LEADER IS EXECUTED

Persian Government Carries Out Sentence

Washington, Nov. 4.—Execution by the Persian government of Seyid Hussein, ring-leader of the mob which killed American vice-consul Imbrie in Teheran, was reported officially to the state department. Another man was executed for the crime at the same time.

The death sentences were carried out after the Washington government had decided that the two men must receive the extreme penalty despite a decision by the Persian cabinet to commute their sentences. A third man found guilty and sentenced to death was executed some time ago.

A score of members of the mob who were killed Imbrie have been given lesser sentences, as they were merely participants in the crowd.

The Persian government also has completed other phases of the program it laid down for itself at the time of the murder. It has made substantial payment to Imbrie's widow and has expressed its readiness to meet the entire cost of bringing Imbrie's body home for burial.

Halvorson Has Good Rest in Bismarck Today

Halvor L. Halvorson, coalition candidate for Governor, enjoyed a good sleep in Bismarck today, after having spoken at the Auditorium last night.

Mr. Halvorson had voted in Minot by absent voter's ballot. He planned to visit friends in Mandan today, and go to Fargo tonight, before returning to Minot.

Mr. Halvorson plainly showed the effects of the strenuous campaign, but his voice was in fine condition and aside from a weariness that comes from the long grind of speech-making and hard traveling, he was in fine spirits.

DAWES VOTES IN EVANSTON

Candidate Quickly Marks His Ballot at Polls

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 4.—Marking his ballot from a head pencil from his own pocket instead of the customary blue pencil furnished by election officials, Charles G. Dawes voted shortly before noon in the first precinct of the third ward, Evanston. Mrs. Dawes voted at the same time.

"It did not take you very long to mark your ballot," a friend remarked to Mrs. Dawes as she left the polling place.

"I had it all figured out myself, some days ago, inasmuch as Charley had declined to give me any advice," she answered.

PRESIDENT'S FATHER VOTES
Plymouth, Vt., Nov. 4.—Col. John Coolidge, father of the President, was the first to cast his vote when the polls opened in this town, the President's birthplace. Col. Coolidge hitched up his horse and buggy and drove to the voting place, accompanied by his housekeeper. There the ballots were cast in boxes, which were butter pails improvised.

"VOTES HER STRAIGHT"
Lancaster, N. Y., Nov. 4.—John W. Davis voted in Glenn Cove shortly before noon today. His ballot was number 232, and he said when he stepped out of the booth it might be safely assumed he had voted "the Democratic ticket straight." Mrs. Davis accompanied the candidate.

LAFOLETTE AT HOME
Madison, Wis., Nov. 4.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette, independent presidential candidate, went to the Dane county courthouse early today and cast his ballot, accompanied by his sons, Robert Jr. and Phillip. Mr. LaFollette will spend the rest of the day with friends and at Maple Bluff, his farm home, just outside of Madison and receive election returns tonight at the state house.

THREE DIE IN FISHING TRIP

Mystery Surrounds Death of Minneapolis Man

Minneapolis, Nov. 4.—Bodies of three Minneapolis men, who met death while on a fishing and hunting trip, were found by deputy sheriff Sunday at Twin Lakes in Brooklyn Center township, Hennepin county.

The dead are:

Jonas M. Dahl, 42 years old, 3901 Queen avenue north, a woodworker. Aslak Tonstad, 30 years old, 3901 Queen avenue north, a woodworker. Bernhard Hanson, 42 years old, 3535 Russell avenue north, a carpenter.

Dahl's body was found in a boat. Tonstad's body on the shore, face down, and Hanson's body beside the boat, partly out of shallow water. There were evidences of a struggle which came, apparently after their small craft had capsized.

Lungs Are Empty
Dr. Gilbert Seashore, Hennepin county coroner, said death probably was caused by exposure. There was no water in the lungs, he said.

Dr. Seashore, who conducted a post mortem examination of the bodies of Dahl and Tonstad at the county morgue Sunday afternoon, said traces of alcohol were found in their stomachs. Hanson's stomach was not examined.

Dahl is survived by a wife and six children. Tonstad was unmarried. Hanson leaves a wife.

PROBE STARTS AS RIOTS IN NILES CEASE

All Military to be Out of the City Tomorrow, Commander Says

Niles, Ohio, Nov. 4.—(By the A. P.)—With peace and order restored here, military, county and city officials today turned their attention to fixing the responsibility for Saturday's rioting between the Ku Klux Klan and the anti-Klansmen, which occurred while Klansmen were preparing to parade.

The list of those wounded as a result of the skirmishes remained at 13.

Only a comparatively few National Guardsmen remained on duty. Most of these, Major-General Hough, in charge of the city, proclaimed under qualified martial law by Governor Donahay after rioting began, said would be home in time to cast their ballots in the coming election.

Investigation into the rioting, which was started by military authorities yesterday was continued today.

What My Neighbor Says

Is of Interest to Bismarck Folks.

When one has had the misfortune to suffer from backache, headaches, dizziness, urinary disorders and other kidney ills—and has found relief from all this sickness and suffering, that person's advice is of untold value to friends and neighbors. The following case is only one of many thousands, but it is that of a Bismarck resident. Who could ask for a better example?

Mrs. N. F. Reynolds, 417 Mandan Ave., says: "I suffered from pains through my back and kidneys and other symptoms of kidney trouble. My ankles swelled and I found it difficult to get my shoes on at times. After trying several remedies without the least help, I finally got Doan's Pills at the Lenhart Drug Co. After using them, all of the trouble disappeared."

Over twelve years later, Mrs. Reynolds said: "I have used Doan's since and obtained prompt relief."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mrs. Reynolds had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

Remember last winter? A lot of $18-a-ton heat just circulated around the open basement. Also, a power of soot filtered up through the floor, onto the wall paper and curtains. Stop all that loss and expense by ceiling the basement with Sheetrock—the different wallboard. It makes tight-jointed, cold-proof, sound-proof, dust-proof walls and ceilings—at low cost.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

NORTH DAKOTA STATE CORN SHOW

With the pre-election campaign ended, the way is opened for a united campaign of constructive effort for North Dakota. With the past season proving what can be done on North Dakota farms, with the state in position to further its own interests, every citizen will be called upon in a united campaign to advertise North Dakota to the world.

One of the most important projects of this nature is the North Dakota Corn Show, which will be held in Bismarck November 12-15. The first state-wide corn show, held here last year, dazzled the eyes of many who had placed North Dakota out of the good corn belt, if not entirely out of the corn belt. As fine corn as is raised in any part of the United States was exhibited. There is every reason to believe that the corn show this year will far exceed the first, both in the number and quality of entries, and in the interest shown.

The corn show has dual value, in promoting the interests of corn growing and diversified farming in the state, on the one hand, and proving to the farmers living in the states of high-priced land that North Dakota offers the best opportunity for a tenant to become a land owner. The advertising from the first corn show penetrated into South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois, and the advertising from the second show will reach farther.

Every citizen of Bismarck and Burleigh county should constitute himself a committee of one to issue invitations to attend the splendid exposition to be held in Bismarck.

WINGS

Like this, runs the evolutionary theory: A fish wanted, for instance, to get out on land and explore. Struggling, it developed fins into flippers like a seal's. Gradually these became legs—like a lizard's. Trying to seize objects ultimately developed fingers.

Or, struggling to fly, fish developed fins into wings. Man yearned to fly—so much, he pictured the angels with wings. He didn't wait for wings to grow. Made his own, artificial—the airplane. No longer confined to the ground. It's a freakish step in evolution, is man's joining the birds.

BRAINS

Earthworms have brains—not in their heads, but in their abdomens. Nature Magazine gives this as scientific fact. Sometimes it seems as if the human intellect is in the liver. Sluggish liver, sluggish thinking. The brain is the central station. But the functioning and quality of intellect are not determined altogether by the brain. The liver and the thyroid and other endocrine glands are of importance beyond estimation.

THYROID

Certain kinds of mentally backward children can, by being fed extract of sheep thyroid gland scientifically, be made normal in intelligence.

What they get from sheep thyroids is a mysterious substance in the nature of iodine. Some endocrinologists even go as far as to suggest that a bottle of iodine contains about everything possible in the way of human thought. But don't take iodine. It's deadly poison. So is some thought.

LAGGARD

One in every 200 persons in Great Britain is mentally deficient, the minister of health over there claims. He is an optimist.

More than a majority of people in every country are below par intellectually. Some cynics who handle the public even insist that only five out of every 100 people have any intelligence at all—that the other 95 are animated almost entirely by emotions. The success of some movies and fiction makes this theory plausible.

SWEETS

Men are eating more candy than women, according to leading diet experts. The usual explanation is that the sugar in candy is a substitute for pre-prohibition alcohol. One authority claims excess in candy is as injurious to the digestive system as overindulgence in alcohol. Also that the candy habit is as hard to break as the liquor habit. Other experts disagree.

One advantage of having "experts" is that there's nearly always one or more who'll back you, no matter what you think.

EXTRAORDINARY

The axolotl, described as a fish with four legs, the legs equipped with fingers, excites Boston. It was sent from Montana to the Hub's natural history museum. A little imagination suggests that the queer creature is a link demonstrating the workings of evolution. That is presumably correct—even though the axolotl is a salamander or refined lizard, instead of a fish.

MOTORIST

Compulsory auto liability insurance now is in effect in nearly all of Switzerland. As a rule, the auto owner must carry at least $20,000 worth. The laws favor the pedestrian who gets hit. The burden of proof is on the driver. And the car owner has to pay a tenth of the big damages out of his own pocket, and all of the damages up to $25. They claim it's safe now to cross Swiss roads without running.

WHITHER?

What has become of that German who had "discovered how to manufacture gold out of the baser metals?" Truly, we live in an age of marvels. (Even though so many of the marvels are never heard of again after the initial announcement.) What'll be the next act in World Vaudeville?

Some wedding rings are around the eyes.

AN EPOCH MAKING DECISION

Cleveland Plain Dealer: The decision of the United States supreme court upholding the right of trial by jury in contempt cases is epoch making. It may be considered one of the most important gains ever made in the history of American labor.

From the time the injunction came into use in labor controversies the unions have been fighting it, and more particularly the practice of vesting in the court full authority to impose punishment upon those found in contempt of its rulings. No more effective weapon for breaking a strike could have been placed in the hands of employers than their right to secure an injunction against striking employees taken in contempt of the court. Full authority to sentence to jail those who refused to comply with its order.

The labor provisions of the Clayton act were drawn with the idea of providing jury trial in contempt cases growing out of labor disputes. But the lower courts had long since held this feature of the act unconstitutional, and it had been administered by the supreme court would not find otherwise. But in suits growing out of the shopmen's strike of two years ago the high court now upholds the right of trial by jury in such cases and probably strikes the injunction, as a weapon of strike prevention, a blow from which it will never recover.

From the point of view of good public policy it is hoped that it never will recover. "Government by injunction" and the use of the courts in ways never contemplated when they were created constitute no small portion of the foundation upon which the popular discontent of the last decade rests. It is a hopeful sign that the highest court of the land is more jealous of the right of the individual than it is of judicial prerogative.

WASHINGTON, THE VAMPIRE

New York World (Dem.): The Washington vampire sucks the life out of the states and local communities. Yet the state, the city and the county should be the real training ground and testing ground for statesmen. That's where political life should be kept and active. But the more Washington absorbs the power of the states the more they tend to become mere administrative shells. Who really pays any attention nowadays to a debate in the legislature at Albany?

And on top of this, and in the name of progressivism, comes Senator LaFollette with a well-meant but wholly unconsidered proposal to extend indefinitely, and inevitably at the expense of state authority, the legislative authority of congress. In the light of human experience, is Dr. Butler not right in saying that this whole tendency to concentrate and elaborate governmental power is destructive to liberty and democracy?

Is he not right in thinking that, regardless of where the parties stand, and they stand everywhere, the decentralization of the Federal political power and the reduction of government at Washington is the paramount political issue of our time?

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

When the King of Yum Yum Land ordered the magic fork and the magic teapot to bring him a meal and set it before him in his hunting-lodge, Nancy and Nick and Daddy Gander looked with all their eyes.

It wasn't more than fifteen seconds until clatter, clatter, clatter! back came the fork and teapot with a meal fit to set before a king, as indeed it soon was.

While the peddler in the palace was eating cold mutton and salty potatoes and tough beans and horrible pie, the king in the forest was eating "nightingales" tongues and fried goldfish and creamed violets and ice cream of forty colors. But that was only about one-hundredth of it.

If I should tell you all he ate, you would never get to bed tonight. Along the road came the cook, hurrying as fast as he could move.

"If I can only get the magic fork," he kept saying anxiously, "I shall be able to keep my head on my shoulders. I hope that I can sneak into the hunting-lodge by the back way and get hold of it when the king isn't looking. If I don't get it the peddler will off with my head at sunrise. A pretty mess I made out of things when I made this old peddler King of Yum Yum Land. Small thanks I got for my trouble."

At the same time the peddler (as cross as a bear about the bad meal he had eaten) was coming down another road toward the hunting-lodge in the forest.

And he was saying to himself, "If I can only get the magic fork back that I gave the king, I'll be fixed for the rest of my life. That cook at the palace is the worst ever! I'm glad I ordered his head off. Why, I had better meals when I was peddling frying-pans and milk-pails. Yes, I'll have to sneak in by the back door and get the fork and teapot when the king isn't looking."

Well, the cook came up tippy-toe through the bushes and peeped in one window, and the peddler came up tippy-toe and peeped in through another window, and there sat the king eating his goldfish and violets. The cook didn't know it, but he was standing right on the magic dust-pan where the Twins and Daddy Gander had hidden it when they arrived in Yum Yum Land.

Suddenly he had a chance. The magic fork, through with serving, came and settled itself right under the window where he was sleeping.

OUT OUR WAY

SHE FEARS FOR THE HOME

By Albert Apple

The kitchenet apartment is destroying family life and interests, Marie G. Merrill warns the Playground and Recreation Association.

Discussing the old-fashioned home, she says: "Mother was not too busy to occasionally make candy or popcorn, and father and mother were not above playing games which the children could enjoy.

"Nowadays a large percentage of our children live in a place which has not much space between its four walls. They come in at evening time. Mother kills a couple of cans and they have dinner. A door is opened and a bed drops down. Father and mother go out for recreation and the children hunt theirs."

Alas! this is a true picture—but not in as many homes as is often feared. It is temptingly easy to observe a few homes that are such in name only and to jump to the conclusion that these are typical.

Invention, modern industry, high rents, changed customs, the passing of alleys and large yards as playgrounds—all these, indeed, have changed home life.

But the average home, for instance, does not live out of a tin can any more than former generations lived out of glass jars. All cannot afford fresh fruit or vegetables "out of season" and brought from afar. The tin can is a blessing. It is progress.

As regards the folding bed: If anyone prefers the old-time mattress of corn husks and bedsprings of rope, to the modern mattress and steel-coil springs, welcome to it!

And we believe that Willie, building a radio while pa and ma go to a movie, is quite as well off as the old-time youngster who played tiddieewinks or parcheesi with pa and ma. And there still are plenty of homes where mothers make candy and pop corn.

The modern home has, undoubtedly, lost much. In particular, its outdoor surroundings—large open spaces where youth can frolic and romp in abandon and get plenty of fresh air. The only substitute for these, as long as parents are not wise enough to raise their families in or near the country, is the park or public playgrounds. We cannot have too many of them. Speed the work.

LETTER FROM MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT TO MRS. JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT, CONTINUED

For this, Leslie, you have probably been told by Mrs. Burke, who seems to keep in close touch with you, that Priscilla Bradford has at last terminated her visit. I am grieved to say that she wore out her welcome. She, too, has disappointed me grievously.

After she had persuaded me that it would be something to have us oversee the cleaning and putting in order your apartment, she left the whole matter to the ignorant people she had hired to do the work. I must say that she just about ruined the decoration and floor. However, I believe her intentions were good.

I hope you will exonerate me of any of the blame, for after Priscilla and I had spent one whole day in taking your clothing out of your closet I found myself so tired that I turned everything over to her and did not try to do anything more.

One thing I must tell you about for I expect you have gotten an entirely erroneous idea of what was done about your desk from your supposed friend Mrs. Burke.

She acted very disagreeably over that desk I gave you for a wedding present. You will remember that both you and I thought there was a secret drawer in it, and as everything was being torn up I thought it would be a good time to send it to some cabinetmaker and let him try to find the drawer.

Mrs. Burke found out that I had done this from my nurse Mrs. Anderson, whom I think quite overstepped her authority in the matter. She came rushing over to your apartment with that wise from you which, peremptorily, countermanded my order. The desk intact is now reposing in your morning room, at least it was there when I left for this hotel. I may as well tell you now that as far as I am concerned you will have to get along without knowing whether it has a secret drawer or not. I shall never again pay any more attention to it. I have lost all interest.

You know by this time that Miss Anderson has left me. The new nurse that my doctor sent me I do not like nearly as well. This woman is not a lady. She contradicts me continually and pays no attention to me when I talk to her for any length of time. She will get up and leave the room right in the midst of one of my sentences.

Miss Anderson called on me yesterday and much to my surprise told me that she would not have left if Priscilla had not always been snooping around and making trouble. I am very sorry to tell you that Miss Anderson is more than half right, and I am impatiently waiting until you return and dismiss this nurse so that Miss Anderson can come back.

Also when you do return I hope you will make Mrs. Burke understand that she owes me an apology.

Sincerely yours mother,
MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT.

Your BIRTHDAY

TUESDAY, NOV. 4.—You should cultivate optimism and cheer. Astrology readings for this day show it to be a birthday of those temperamental who are inclined to be depressed or moody.

Between the ages of 30 and 35 you should be prepared to take full advantage of period that should be productive. While many of the schemes you have originated have failed of success, there is something among them that will bring you profit.

Try not to be too analytical, for you are quite logical in your thoughts. You must try to bring to the surface a hidden self, which will bring you much happiness and success.

A Thought

Answer a fool according to his folly, lest he be wise in his own conceit.—Prov. 26: 4, 5.

A FOOL cannot look, nor stand, nor walk like a man of sense.—La Bruyere.

USE COLD WATER

If you have a bouquet of roses keep them in very cold water. For that reason a good sized vase is better as the water will stay cool longer than in a small one.

HOT SANDWICHES

Hot chicken or turkey sandwiches are a good way to use up chicken or turkey. They are made by placing slices of the meat between slices of buttered bread or toast and pouring gravy over them.

MY CASTLE

(Florence Bonner)

I've a castle filled with treasures,
Found in many distant lands,
I have statues fair and paintings there,
Wrought by Old Master's hands;
I have jewels worthy of a crown,
And lace fit for queens—
Oh, I have a world of wonders,
In the castle of my dreams.

Past within the walls of Somewhere,
On the stream of Bye and Bye,
I can see its turrets rising,
Close against the distant sky;
Through its lofty halls I wander,
While the moonlight sheds its beams,
On each treasured thing of beauty,
In the castle of my dreams.

Could I take you to my stronghold,
You would ask that you might stay,
Where the birds in joyful chorus,
Chant the songs of yesterday;
While the golden light of Fancy,
Like some distant beacon gleams,
Guiding on to scenes of rapture,
In the castle of my dreams.

Oh, the castles of fair Dreamland!
How they seem to fall and rise,
As we draw the nearer to them,
In our swift-winged argosies;
And, oft-times the thief steals o'er me,
That when we've left earthly scenes,
We shall find a welcome waiting,
In the castle of our dreams.

No, it's not a cross-word puzzle. Nor is it a cubistic painting. It's a bird's-eye view of the Pennsylvania Station in New York City.

New York, Nov. 4.—He runs a little electrical shop just around the corner from where I live. The other night I dropped in to buy some bulbs and he told me that he was going out of business. He is going to take a salaried job.

Three years ago his wife, who was 37, ran off with a youth of 19, after having married apparently happily for 17 years. At that time the electrician had a very pretentious establishment. He gave it up for the smaller place in another community, thinking that his effort to build up a new business would bring peace of mind. That failing, he now turns to work for another man so that he will have to keep at work for a certain number of hours each day.

He tells me that in three years he has not slept more than two hours any night and that he has aged 20 years in that time. And that's another of those little stories that can lie next door to you in New York for years without being revealed.

Fannie Hurst called New York "the vertical city." In a few years it will be known as "the pyramid city." Since the new zoning law went into effect a few years ago hundreds of new buildings have gone up, many in the district between Eighth avenue and Broadway and Forty-second and Thirtieth streets. These buildings step back every two stories until the top floor occupies about one-half as much space as the first floor.

At Forty-sixth street and Fifth avenue an auto dashed up on the sidewalk and pinned a man against its fender. A plate glass window crashed and cut off the man's leg.

When a policeman ordered the driver of the car to rush the man to a hospital, he answered, "I don't think I ought to get my car all covered with blood."

No sooner had he uttered that noble phrase than a bystander stepped up and smashed him full in the face and gave him a bloody nose.

One of my neighbors was up on the roof, pounding a hole in the wall and disturbing early morning sleep. He was installing a radio aerial. After a time I heard another neighbor open his window and shout, "Hey! Move that wire so it doesn't dangle in front of my window."

The man on the roof readjusted the wire and remarked, "Now, I guess you'll be happy."

The man below angrily slammed his window shut.

The two do not speak now. The roof of almost every apartment house in New York looks like a harbor for sailing vessels, with its many masts and gearings.

All of this exterior paraphernalia is not installed by radio experts. More than one man has fallen into with his neighbor because of crossed wires of their so-called wireless sets.

PUT SAND IN SOIL

If you want geraniums to bloom all winter put them in pots containing ordinary soil mixed with some sand so that the soil will drain freely and yet be light enough to encourage a good root growth.

FABLES ON HEALTH

BATH IN BED

Do you know how to give an invalid a bath in bed?

Few people do, and yet the possibility of an emergency is always present as Mrs. Jones of Anytown learned when little Billy had been sick for several weeks.

Here are a few handy hints for such an occasion:

Be careful never to administer a bath until some time after a meal. Just before breakfast is considered a good time. Close the windows and be careful not to allow the patient to be chilled.

The necessary paraphernalia includes a washcloth for the face and another for the body, a face towel, a bath towel, a cake of soap and some warm water. Put one towel under the patient's head and another under his chin, when washing the face, thus keeping the bed dry.

Bring a tin foot-bath, filled with hot water. Wash one arm at a time, drying each before starting on the other. Do the same with the legs. Then the chest and abdomen and, turning the patient face down, wash the back. If the patient cannot turn over, try to get him in a sitting position, putting a towel at the base of the spine to keep sheets and mattress from getting wet. Rub with good brisk movement to aid circulation.

When the feet are reached, raise them and put them in foot-bath. A brisk alcohol rub at the end of the bath is advised by many.

Annual Dinner Is Planned

Plans are being made by the Ft. Lincoln chapter, American War Mothers, and the American Legion Auxiliary, for the annual dinner to be given on service men and women of Burleigh county. The dinner will be at 6:45 p. m. Armistice Day, November 11, at the Grand Pacific Hotel. A short program is planned in connection with the dinner.

All men and women who served in the forces of the government during the war are invited to attend the dinner. To enable the organizations to know about how many will attend, ex-service men and women are asked to register their names at Harris and Woodmansee. They are asked to register by the end of this week.

Housewarming Party Is Given

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Whiteaker held a housewarming party on Saturday evening at their farm near Moffit. The evening was spent in cards and dancing with games for the young people. A pie eating contest furnished much merriment with Eddie Beard winning the prize. There were eighty people in attendance, coming for many miles. AT THE MOVIES

THE ELTINGE
Gloria Swanson's new picture, "Her Love Story" will be shown at the Eltinge theatre Wednesday and Thursday. Mary Roberts Rinehart wrote the story which ran in the Cosmopolitan magazine.

AT THE CAPITOL
George O'Brien, he of the irresistible "O'Brien Smile," who has won fame in the two big Broadway successes, "The Man Who Came Back," and "The Iron Horse," went over big in the new William Fox special production, "The Painted Lady," at the Capitol theatre tonight.

WHICH ONE IS YOURS?

How does your home, your store, your factory measure up to the average fire risk? You probably don't know. It is not your business to know. But this information has a very definite bearing on the price you pay for insurance protection. It is our business to know fire risks. It is our business to save you money, if we can, on your insurance. Call us up today. It may save you loss tomorrow.

FASHIONS

The scarf of this season is wound closely about the throat and the streamers usually hang down in the back rather than in front.

Crystal beads and bead fringes are used very successfully on pastel colored evening gowns.

The new striped and plaid velvets are most effective and are charming for semi-tailored gowns.

Some of the newest models from Paris show dresses with the natural waistline with ruffles and peplum emphasizing it.

A very gorgeous ensemble costume is of brown velvet embroidered in gold and has a long coat lined with cloth of gold.

Constipation makes bright children dull—give them relief with Kellogg's Bran

Constipation dulls the youthful mind—makes children backward in studies—makes them listless—leads to serious diseases. Constipation is a dangerous disease. You cannot afford to take chances on getting relief. You cannot afford to experiment or put off. Kellogg's Bran brings relief—permanent relief if taken regularly. Even in the most chronic cases of constipation it is guaranteed to bring results. If it fails, your grocer will return your money. Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krummled, has brought relief to thousands because it is ALL Bran. Remember, only ALL Bran can be 100 per cent effective. That is why Kellogg's Bran is recommended by doctors. It sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It begins serving Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krummled, to your children today. Eat it yourself. The leading hotels and clubs serve it. Made in Battle Creek. It is sold by all grocers.

BUILD UP A RESERVE

The General whose army wins the battles of today is not in command of men. The winning General is the man who commands the most money and who has the largest reserve of credit. When you have ready money and a reputation for ability and honesty, you have proportionate credit at your command.

The easiest, quickest, and surest way to get ready money is to save a part of all you make in this bank regularly.

With this money which you have saved, and your reputation, you can command credit. Then you are in a strategic position—you will place your own limit on the extent of your success.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

NORTH DAKOTA STATE CORN SHOW
With the pre-election campaign ended, the way is opened for a united campaign of constructive effort for North Dakota. With the past season proving what can be done on North Dakota farms, with the state in position to further its own interests, every citizen will be called upon in a united campaign to advertise North Dakota to the world.

One of the most important projects of this nature is the North Dakota Corn Show, which will be held in Bismarck November 12-15. The first state-wide corn show, held here last year, dazzled the eyes of many who had placed North Dakota out of the good corn belt, if not entirely out of the corn belt. As fine corn as is raised in any part of the United States was exhibited. There is every reason to believe that the corn show this year will far exceed the first, both in the number and quality of entries, and in the interest shown. The corn show has dual value, in promoting the interests of corn growing and diversified farming in the state, on the one hand, and proving to the farmers living in the states of high-priced land that North Dakota offers the best opportunity for a tenant to become a land owner. The advertising from the first corn show penetrated into South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois, and the advertising from the second show will reach farther.

Every citizen of Bismarck and Burleigh county should constitute himself a committee of one to issue invitations to attend the splendid exposition to be held in Bismarck.

WINGS
Like this, runs the evolutionary theory: A fish wanted, for instance, to get out on land and explore. Struggling, it developed fins into flippers like a seal's. Gradually these became legs—like a lizard's. Trying to seize objects ultimately developed fingers.

Or, struggling to fly, fish developed fins into wings. Man yearned to fly—so much, he pictured the angels with wings. He didn't wait for wings to grow. Made his own, until—!—the airplane. No longer confined to the ground. It's a freakish step in evolution, is man's joining the birds.

BRAINS
Earthworms have brains—not in their heads, but in their abdomens. Nature Magazine gives this as scientific fact. Sometimes it seems as if the human intellect is in the liver. Sluggish liver, sluggish thinking.

The brain is the central station. But the functioning and quality of intellect are not determined altogether by the brain. The liver and the thyroid and other endocrine glands are of importance beyond estimation.

THYROID
Certain kinds of mentally backward children can, by being fed extract of sheep thyroid gland scientifically, be made normal in intelligence.

What they get from sheep thyroids is a mysterious substance in the nature of iodine. Some endocrinologists even go as far as to suggest that a bottle of iodine contains about everything possible in the way of human thought.

But don't take iodine. It's deadly poison. So is some thought.

LAGGARD
One in every 200 persons in Great Britain is mentally deficient, the minister of health over there claims. He is an optimist.

More than a majority of people in every country are below par intellectually. Some cynics who handle the public even insist that only five out of every 100 people have any intelligence at all—that the other 95 are animated almost entirely by emotions. The success of some movies and fiction makes this theory plausible.

SWEETS
Men are eating more candy than women, according to leading diet experts. The usual explanation is that the sugar in candy is a substitute for pre-prohibition alcohol. One authority claims excess in candy is as injurious to the digestive system as overindulgence in alcohol. Also that the candy habit is as hard to break as the liquor habit. Other experts disagree.

One advantage of having "experts" is that there's nearly always one or more who'll back you, no matter what you think.

EXTRAORDINARY
The axolotl, described as a fish with four legs, the legs equipped with fingers, excites Boston. It was sent from Montana to the Hub's natural history museum. A little imagination suggests that the queer creature is a link demonstrating the workings of evolution. That is presumably correct—even though the axolotl is a salamander or refined lizard, instead of a fish.

MOTORIST
Compulsory auto liability insurance now is in effect in nearly all of Switzerland. As a rule, the auto owner must carry at least $20,000 worth. The laws favor the pedestrian who gets hit. The burden of proof is on the driver. And the car owner has to pay a tenth of the big damages out of his own pocket, and all of the damages up to $25.

They claim it's safe now to cross Swiss roads without running.
WHITHER?
What has become of that German who had "discovered how to manufacture gold out of the baser metals?" Truly, we live in an age of marvels. (Even though so many of the marvels are never heard of again after the initial announcement.) What'll be the next act in World Vaudeville?

Some wedding rings are around the eyes.

Editorial Review

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

AN EPOCH MAKING DECISION
Cleveland Plain Dealer: The decision of the United States supreme court upholding the right of trial by jury in contempt cases is epoch making. It may be considered one of the most important gains ever made in the history of American labor.

From the time the injunction came—go to us in labor controversies the unions have been fighting it, and more particularly the practice of vesting in the court full authority to impose punishment upon those found in contempt of its rulings. No more effective weapon for breaking a strike could have been placed in the hands of employers than their right to secure an injunction against striking employees taken in connection with the right of the court to sentence to jail those who refused to comply with its order.

The labor provisions of the Clayton act were drawn with the idea of providing jury trial in contempt cases growing out of labor disputes. But the lower courts had long since held this feature of the act unconstitutional, and it had been taken for granted that the supreme court would not find otherwise. But in suits growing out of the shopmen's strike of two years ago the high court now upholds the right of trial by jury in such cases and probably strikes the injunction, as a weapon of strike prevention, a blow from which it will never recover.

From the point of view of good public policy it is hoped that it never will recover. "Government by injunction" and the use of the courts in ways never contemplated when they were created constitute no small portion of the foundation upon which the popular discontent of the last decade rests. It is a hopeful sign that the highest court of the land is more jealous of the right of the individual than it is of judicial prerogative.

WASHINGTON, THE VAMPIRE
New York World (Dem.): The Washington vampire sucks the life out of the states and local communities. Yet the state, the city and the county should be the real training ground and testing ground for statesmen. That's where political life should be keen and active. But the more Washington absorbs the power of the states the more they tend to become mere administrative shells. Who really pays any attention nowadays to a debate in the legislature at Albany?

And on top of this, and in the name of progressivism, comes Senator La Follette with a well-meant but wholly unconsidered proposal to extend indefinitely, and inevitably at the expense of state authority, the legislative authority of congress. In the light of human experience, is Dr. Butler not right in saying that this whole tendency to concentrate and elaborate governmental power is destructive to liberty and deeply reactionary?

Is he not right in thinking that, regardless of where the parties stand, and they stand everywhere, the decentralization of the Federal political power and the reduction of government at Washington is the paramount political issue of our time?

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

When the King of Yum Yum Land ordered the magic fork and the magic teapot to bring him a meal and set it before him in his hunting-lodge, Nancy and Nick and Daddy Gander looked with all their eyes. It wasn't more than fifteen seconds until clatter, clatter, clatter! back came the fork and teapot with a meal fit to set before a king, as indeed it soon was.

While the peddler in the palace was eating old mutton and salty potatoes and tough beans and horrible pie, the king in the forest was eating nightingales' tongues and fried goldfish and creamed violets and ice cream of forty colors. But that was only about one-hundredth of it.

If I should tell you all he ate, you would never get to bed tonight. Along the road came the cook, hurrying as fast as he could move. "If I can only get the magic fork," he kept saying anxiously, "I shall be able to keep my head on my shoulders. I hope that I can sneak into the hunting-lodge by the back way and get hold of it when the king isn't looking. If I don't get it the peddler will off with my head at sunrise. A pretty mess I made out of things when I made this old peddler King of Yum Yum Land. Small thanks I got for my trouble."

At the same time the peddler (as cross as a bear about the bad meal he had eaten) was coming down another road toward the hunting-lodge in the forest. And he was saying to himself, "If I can only get the magic fork back that I gave the king, I'll be fixed for the rest of my life. That cook at the palace is the worst ever! Why, I had better meals when I was peddling frying-pan and milk-pails. Yes, I'll have to sneak in by the back door and get the fork and teapot when the king isn't looking."

Well, the cook came up tippy-toe through the bushes and peeped in one window, and the peddler came up tippy-toe and peeped in through another window, and there sat the king eating his goldfish and violets. The cook didn't know it, but he was standing right on the magic dust-pan where the Twins and Daddy Gander had hidden it when they arrived in Yum Yum Land.

Suddenly he had a chance. The magic fork, through with serving, came and settled itself right under the window where he was peeping.

OUT OUR WAY

He reached in his hand and, presto! It was his.

At the same time the teapot settled itself right under the window where the peddler was looking in. Like the cook, he reached in and presto! It was his.

But he saw the cook and the cook saw him and instantly there was a fight.

"Give me that teapot!" cried the cook.

"Give me that fork!" cried the peddler.

And they pummelled each other like good fellows—or I should say, bad fellows.

But everyone knows that a cook can't fight without bread-dough. When a cook gets cross, that's the first thing he throws—dough!

"Oh, if I only had some bread dough!" he thought. And suddenly he had an idea.

"Oh, magic fork, please get some dough."

"As you can see, I need it so."

Instantly he began to rise, the cook did, fork, pan and all straight toward the sky. The magic dust-pan was taking him on its journey.

SHE FEARS FOR THE HOME

By Albert Apple

The kitchenet apartment is destroying family life and interests, Marie G. Merrill warns the Playground and Recreation Association.

Discussing the old-fashioned home, she says: "Mother was not too busy to occasionally make candy or popcorn, and father and mother were not above playing games which the children could enjoy."

"Nowadays a large percentage of our children live in a place which has not much space between its four walls. They come in at evening time. Mother kills a couple of cans and they have dinner. A door is opened and a bed drops down. Father and mother go out for recreation and the children hunt theirs."

Alas! this is a true picture—but not in as many homes as is often feared. It is temptingly easy to observe a few homes that are such in name only and to jump to the conclusion that these are typical.

Invention, modern industry, high rents, changed customs, the passing of alleys and large yards as playgrounds—all these, indeed, have changed home life.

But the average home, for instance, does not live out of a tin can any more than former generations lived out of glass jars. All cannot afford fresh fruit or vegetables "out of season" and brought from afar. The tin can is a blessing. It is progress.

As regards the folding bed: If anyone prefers the old-time mattress of corn husks and bedsprings of rope, to the modern mattress and steel-coil springs, welcome to it!

And we believe that Willie, building a radio while pa and ma go to a movie, is quite as well off as the old-time youngster who played tiddledewinks or parcheesi with pa and ma. And there still are plenty of homes where mothers make candy and pop corn.

The modern home has, undoubtedly, lost much. In particular, its outdoor surroundings—large open spaces where youth can frolic and romp in abandon and get plenty of fresh air. The only substitute for these, as long as parents are not wise enough to raise their families in or near the country, is the park or public playgrounds. We cannot have too many of them. Speed the work.

LETTER FROM MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT TO MRS. JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT, CONTINUED

Ere this, Leslie, you have probably been told by Mrs. Burke, who seems to keep in close touch with you, that Priscilla Bradford has at last terminated her visit. I am grieved to say that she wore out her welcome. She, too, has disappointed me grievously.

After she had persuaded me that it would be something you would like very much to have us oversee the cleaning and putting in order your apartment, she left the whole matter to the ignorant people she had hired to do the work. I must say that she just about ruined the decoration and floor.

I hope you will exonerate me of any of the blame, for after Priscilla and I had spent one whole day in taking your clothing out of your closet I found myself so tired that I turned everything over to her and did not try to do anything more.

One thing I must tell you about for I expect you have gotten an entirely erroneous idea of what was done about your desk from your supposed friend Mrs. Burke.

She acted very disgracefully over that desk I gave you for a wedding present. You will remember that both you and I thought there was a secret drawer in it, and as everything was being torn up I thought it would be a good time to send it to some cabinetmaker and let him try to find the drawer.

Mrs. Burke found out that I had done this from my nurse Mrs. Anderson, whom I think quite overstepped her authority in the matter. She came rushing over to your apartment with that wire from you which peremptorily countermanded my order. The desk intact is now reposing in your morning room, at least it was there when I left for this hotel. I may as well tell you now that as far as I am concerned you will have to get along without knowing whether it has a secret drawer or not. I shall never again pay any more attention to it. I have lost all interest.

You know by this time that Miss Anderson has left me. The new nurse that my doctor sent me I do not like nearly as well. This woman is not a lady. She contradicts me continually and pays no attention to me when I talk to her for any length of time. She will get up and leave the room right in the midst of one of my sentences.

Miss Anderson called on me yesterday and much to my surprise told me that she would not have left if Priscilla had not always been snooping around and making trouble.

I am very sorry to tell you that Miss Anderson is more than half right, and I am impatiently waiting until you return and dismiss this nurse so that Miss Anderson can come back.

Also when you do return I hope you will make Mrs. Burke understand that she owes me an apology.

Sincerely your mother,
MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT.

A Thought

Answer a fool according to his folly, lest he be wise in his own conceit.—Prov. 26: 4, 5.

A FOOL cannot look, nor stand, nor walk like a man of sense.—La Bruyere.

USE COLD WATER

If you have a bouquet of roses keep them in very cold water. For that reason a good sized vase is better as the water will stay cool longer than in a small one.

HOT SANDWICHES

Hot chicken or turkey sandwiches are a good way to use up chicken or turkey. They are made by placing slices of the meat between slices of buttered bread or toast and pouring gravy over them.

MY CASTLE

(Florence Bonner)

I've a castle filled with treasures. Found in many distant lands. I have statues fair and paintings there. Wrought by Old Master's hands; I have jewels worthy of a crown. And lace fit for queens— Oh, I have a world of wonders, In the castle of my dreams.

Fast within the walls of Somewhere, On the stream of By and Bye, I can see its turrets rising. Close against the distant sky; Through its lofty halls I wander, While the moonlight sheds its beams. On each treasured thing of beauty. In the castle of my dreams.

Could I take you to my stronghold, You would ask that you might stay. Where the birds in joyful chorus, Chant the songs of yesterday; While the golden light of Fancy, Like some distant beacon gleams. Guiding on in crises of capture, In the castle of my dreams.

Oh, the castles of fair Dreamland! How they seem to fall and rise, As we draw the nearer to them, In our swift-winged argosies; And, oft-times, the thot steals o'er me, That when we're left earthly scenes, We shall find a welcome waiting. In the castle of our dreams.

No, it's not a cross-word puzzle. Nor is it a cubistic painting. It's a bird's-eye view of the Pennsylvania Station in New York City.

New York, Nov. 4.—He runs a little electrical shop just around the corner from where I live. The other night I dropped in to buy some bulbs and he told me that he was going out of business. He is going to take a salaried job.

Three years ago his wife, who was 37, ran off with a youth of 19, after being married apparently happily for 17 years.

At that time the electrician had a very pretentious establishment. He gave it up for the smaller place in another community, thinking that his effort to build up a new business would bring peace of mind. That failing, he new turns to work for another man so that he will have to keep at work for a certain number of hours each day.

He tells me that in three years he has not slept more than two hours any night and that he has aged 20 years in that time.

And that's another of those little stories that can lie next door to you in New York for years without being revealed.

Fannie Hurst called New York "the vertical city." In a few years it will be known as "the pyramid city." All of this exterior paraphernalia is not installed by radio experts. More than one man has fallen out with his neighbor because of crossed wires of their so-called wireless sets.

PUT SAND IN SOIL
If you want geraniums to bloom all winter put them in pots containing ordinary soil mixed with some sand so that the soil will drain freely and yet be light enough to encourage a good root growth.

FABLES ON HEALTH

BATH IN BED

Do you know how to give an invalid a bath in bed?

Few people do, and yet the possibility of an emergency is always present as Mrs. Jones of Anytown learned when little Billy had been sick for several weeks.

Here are a few handy hints for such an occasion:

Be careful never to administer a bath until some time after a meal. Just before breakfast is considered a good time. Close the windows and be careful not to allow the patient to be chilled.

The necessary paraphernalia includes a washcloth for the face and another for the body, a face towel, a bath towel, a cake of soap and some warm water. Put one towel under the patient's head and another under his chin, when washing the face, thus keeping the bed dry.

Bring a tin foot-bath, filled with hot water. Wash one arm at a time, drying each before starting on the other. Do the same with the legs.

Then the chest and abdomen and, turning the patient face down, wash the back. If the patient cannot turn over, try to get him in a sitting position, putting a towel at the base of the spine to keep sheets and mattress from getting wet. Rub with good brisk movement to aid circulation.

When the feet are reached, raise them and put them in foot-tub.

A brisk alcohol rub at the end of the bath is advised by many.

"DEMONS" WILL MEET VALLEY TEAM FRIDAY

Locals Accept Invitation to Play Title Game in Valley City

Bismarck High School's "Demons" will contest Valley City in the semi-finals of the state high school football championship at Valley City Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The winner of the game will meet the winner of the Devils Lake-Minot contest for the championship of state high school football.

The local athletic authorities invited Valley City to play in Bismarck next Saturday, but the Valley City management countered with an offer to play in Valley City. The local manager felt able to give for the game. The locals are guaranteed $450.

Bismarck played Valley City early in the season, being defeated 30 to 9. The game was played on a muddy field, and it was a green Bismarck team against a veteran Valley City team. The locals have improved so rapidly, in spite of the loss of Register and Hillman, that Bismarck rosters are confident that Valley City is in for a real scrap.

Upshaw of Jamestown will referee, and McFarland will be umpire.

SELECTS KELLY MOST VALUABLE UTILITY PLAYER

By NEA Service
Cincinnati, Nov. 4.—Manager Jack Hendricks of the Reds considers George Kelly of the New York Giants the most valuable utility player in the National League, if not both major organizations.

The fine showing of Kelly in the world series, despite the fact that he struck out twice in a pinch in the final game, bears out Hendricks' opinion of him.

Kelly is a great first baseman—a fine target for the infielders. He has a wonderful arm and is a dangerous hitter.

Filling in at second base in the series when Frisch was moved over to third, Kelly saved the first game by a remarkable play on the outfield. He played equally well.

There are few players in the majors who can perform in the infield or outfield as capably as Kelly does.

Billy Evans Says

It is rather surprising that the colleges of the country have never seriously objected to football eligibility rules as enforced at West Point.

At a majority of the colleges freshmen are not permitted to play. This makes it possible for an athlete to play only three years of varsity football, provided he has the ability to make the team in his sophomore year.

At West Point no such rules are enforced. As a matter of fact many of the Army's best men are former college stars, who have played their allotted three years elsewhere.

For football the athlete of from 22 to 25 is more desirable than the youth of from 18 to 21, all things being equal physically.

The well conditioned athlete of more mature years is much better able to stand up under the grueling that a player must take for 60 minutes of actual playing time.

In any sport other than football the few added years might serve as a handicap but not on the gridiron.

Three of the stars of the 1924 Army eleven were famous elsewhere on the gridiron before receiving an Army appointment. They are graybeards, veterans, from a football standpoint.

Garbisch, center and captain, one of the best in the country, is serving his eighth year as a varsity player. Prior to coming to West Point he starred for four years at W. & J.

It is not difficult to figure the handicap some chap of say 19, a sophomore playing his first year of college football, would be up against when facing Garbisch. Hardly seems fair.

In the backfield Tiny Hewitt, a former University of Pittsburgh player, and Harry Wilson, a sensation with Penn State last year, comprise much of the Army's offense.

It is really surprising that the Army, with this added advantage of using former college stars, does not make a better showing. No institution other than West Point could get away with it without having rival colleges yelling murder.

One of the changes of the football rules for 1924 was the banishment of the "first" tee used in kicking off. So far this rule has not worked out very well from the standpoint of the team doing the kicking.

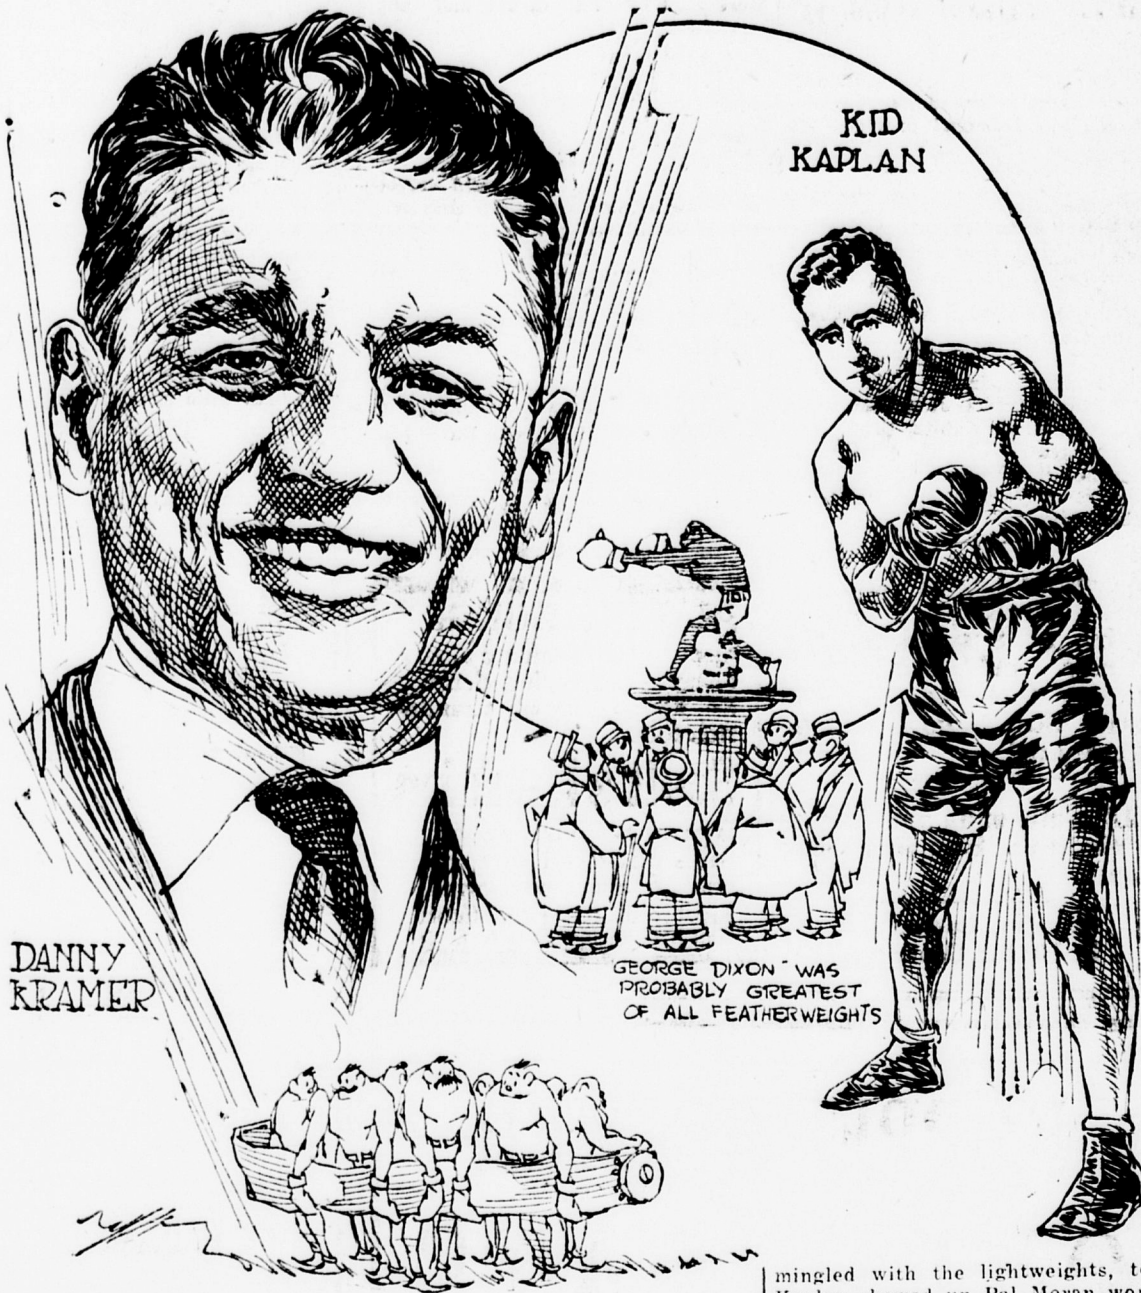

With the use of the tee it was possible to regulate the kicks to a certain extent. A high or low ball could be kicked, according to the position of the ball on the tee.

In a recent game I saw at Syracuse with Boston College, not over three good kickoffs were made in the entire game. Often it was necessary to make a second try.

Without a tee the kicks are inclined to be low and fast, giving the team receiving the ball a decided advantage. It offers a chance for in-

KAPLAN OR KRAMER NEXT CHAMPION

One of These Feathers Seems Certain To Win Dundee's Gift Crown

DANNY KRAMER

KID KAPLAN

GEORGE DIXON WAS PROBABLY GREATEST OF ALL FEATHERWEIGHTS

By JOE WILLIAMS

New York, Nov. 4.—For the first time since 1904, when Young Corbett and Terry McGovern moved up simultaneously to the lightweight division, the featherweights are without a digital dictator.

A Jewish boy, one Abraham Attell, claimed the vacant title then, was matched with Harry Forbes, won by a knockout in five rounds, and was recognized as the champion.

Two Jewish boys are now claiming the title recently outgrown by Johnny Dundee, portly spaghetti addict.

One is Louis Kid Kaplan of Meriden, Conn., emigrant from Russia. The other is Danny Kramer of Philadelphia, hard-boiled product of the Quaker town street corners.

Kramer Harder Hitter

Wise eggs in Tin Ear alley tell me

IT HAS BEEN A REGULAR LEAGUE OF NATIONS TITLE

Kramer will beat Kaplan. Kramer is a knocker-out and a southpaw. His left literally explodes in your face. I saw him bang Kid Wolfe on the whiskers several years ago. Wolfe dropped as if he had been shot, and didn't move for 10 minutes.

A week later Wolfe was rammed by an automobile and knocked unconscious. When he came to he wanted to know what Kramer had hit him with. Wolfe himself will tell you this is no joke.

Kaplan is a better all-round workman than Kramer. He is a stiff puncher, if not a knocker-out, and a better defensive fighter. It is not hard to hit Kramer. George Chaney, Baltimore lightweight, knocked him quivering not so long ago.

None of the boys are dropping Kaplan for the count, and he has mingled with the lightweights, too. Kaplan showed an Ed Moran worse than Benny Leonard did, and he bounced enough punches off Johnny Shugrue's noble pan to earn the decision.

Here's One Sure Bet

You are reasonably safe in making a wager that the name of the next featherweight champion will begin with "K".

Kilbane was the last "K" to hold the title and Kilby was, in some respects, a great little champion. This writer never saw, for one thing, anybody with a better one-two punch.

The featherweight division has been represented at the top by more different nationalities than any other fighting group.

George Dixon, probably greatest of all featherweights, was a negro. Little (Chocolate) they called him, and he held the title on three different occasions.

Billy Plimmer and Ben Jordan were both English born.

Kilbane was emphatically Irish.

Attell Jewish, Criqui French and Dundee Italian.

Of course the nag won. And McTigue claimed to be down for $400 worth at opening odds. No wonder he didn't do any fighting last summer!

Renault Gets Success With Britton's Left

By NEA Service

Montreal, Nov. 4.—Jack Renault, Canadian heavyweight, who is in line for a fight with Jack Dempsey, depends mainly on a left hand.

Renault says he learned the use of this hand from Jack Britton, veteran welterweight.

Renault uses it in much the same way Britton used to, shooting it straight to the head and body.

The effect on an opponent is that of being hit by a stick.

It is not a felling punch but a series of them bring total destruction.

Freak Stunts Feature Recent World Series

By NEA Service

Washington, Nov. 4.—No world series ever produced half the unusual situations that cropped out in the 1924 event. For instance:

Walter Johnson struck out 12 men, yet was beaten 4 to 3 in 12 innings.

Catcher Tate, second string catcher to Muddy Ruel of Washington, was sent to the bat three times as a pinch hitter and drew a walk on each occasion.

Pitcher Marberry of Washington worked in four of the seven games, three of them on successive days. He saved the second game by striking out Jackson for the final out of the contest on three pitched balls.

Pitcher Jonnard of the New York Giants, sent in as relief pitcher, was allowed to pitch only five balls before being derailed. He walked the first man to face him on four straight, three one ball to the next batter and then got the gate.

In a pinch in the final game,

ROCKNE'S MASCOT

Notre Dame Coach Isn't Superstitious, But Strong For Terry

ROCKNE AND HIS MASCOT

While Coach Knute Rockne works on the theory that football games are won through merit, not superstition, he has a decided fondness for the Airedale shown in the picture.

Rockne regards Mascot Terry as an omen of good luck, and wouldn't think of starting a game without having the Airedale on the scene of battle.

upsetting the dope in the clash of his Ohio State team with Illinois. He believes that he can bottle up the Illinois star.

Nebraska is the only team that has played Illinois in the last two years that has prevented Grange from running wild and scoring one or more touchdowns.

The two games with Nebraska have been played on an early date and no doubt Grange was held back to a certain extent.

Another thing, the heavy Nebraska line outcharged Illinois and made it difficult for Grange to get started.

The Nut Cracker

Perhaps you noticed that among those who did not attend Walter

Johnson's home-coming celebration was John J. McGraw.

Whether he realizes it or not, Mr. Rockne of Notre Dame is doing a whole lot to discourage the practice of intersectional football games.

Young Stribling has returned to his books and we suspect the most important one is his checkbook.

A Mexican heavyweight has arrived in New York. . . . You can tell he is a Mexican heavyweight because his reservation calls for a room without bath.

Returning to France, Epinard is probably convinced the national slogan of this country is, "Excuse my dust."

Gil Dobie of Cornell has never had any confidence in his teams and it must please him to know the fans are with him for once.

Dundee is known as the Indian rubber man of the ring. . . . Well, he's managed to stretch his career out longer than most of 'em.

They say no chain is stronger than its weakest link. . . . Mr. O'Goofy wants to know if the same logic applies to country sausage.

After all, the prizefighter manager who always boasts "My boy will win sure" has nothing on the gents handling the political destinies of Messrs. Coolidge, La Follette and Davis.

Any hardened sport observer will tell you there are times when a yellow streak has considerable to do with a losing streak.

Mr. McGraw is sending back postcards, "Having fine time. Wish you were here." . . . But none of them are going to Bucky Harris or Goose Goslin.

The statistical season can not be considered closed until the official average of the year's fly-swapping champion is announced.

FINE CHURCH FAIR

All records for receipts at church fairs in Glen Ullin are believed to have been broken Sunday at the annual fete of the Catholic church there. More than 900 people were served at a splendid chicken dinner in the basement of the church, while the school house was jammed thru out the day by merry-makers participating in the various money raising events. A large number of people from Hebron, Almont, New Salem, Mandan and the rural territory north and south of Glen Ullin helped swell the crowd. The Glen Ullin Band under the leadership of Tom Homer helped to liven things with generous concerts.

DECISION OF SUPREME COURT
From Divide County
P. N. Moore, Plaintiff-Respondent,
vs.
W. S. Schrage, et al, Defendants.
Defendant-Appellant.

SYLLABUS:
In an action against an elevator company for the conversion of grain by plaintiff, the owner of the land, holding proper contract upon grain harvested and threshed by the crop, it is held, for reasons stated in the opinion, that defendant's contention, with reference to variance, misjoinder of causes of action, insufficiency of the evidence, and estoppel of plaintiff, are obviously without merit and that the judgment and order denying judgment not obstante or in the alternative for a new trial should be and are in all respects affirmed.
In District Court, Divide County, Moelling, J. Action for the conversion of grain. Defendant has appealed from the judgment and from an order denying judgment not obstante or in the alternative for a new trial.

DECISIONS OF SUPREME COURT
From Stutsman County
David Mantz, Plaintiff and Respondent,
vs.
William G. Fischer and Jacob Remmich, Defendants and Appellants.

SYLLABUS:
1. In an action by the payee against the makers of promissory notes, it is held: First, evidence that money represented by the notes was to be payable only from the net earnings of a threshing outfit was inadmissible as varying the terms of a written contract.
2. For reasons stated in the opinion, it is held that the trial court did not err in refusing to permit the answer to be amended after the trial.
Appeal from the District Court of Stutsman County; Hon. Fred Jansson, Judge.
Affirmed.
Opinion of the Court by Birdzell, J.
John A. Jorgenson, Esq., Jamestown, N. Dak., Attorney for Appellants.
Messrs. Knaut & Knaut, Jamestown, N. Dak., Attorneys for Respondent.

DECISION OF SUPREME COURT
From Ramsey County
Julius Anderson, Plaintiff and Appellant,
vs.
Northwestern Fire & Marine Insurance Company, a corporation, Defendant and Respondent.

SYLLABUS:
A policy in this state, licensed as an insurance agent by the commissioner of insurance, who solicits insurance in behalf of a foreign insurance company, or transmits applications for a policy of insurance, or collects a premium, or in any manner side in doing either, or in transacting business of like nature, is null and void.
In the case of the insurance company to which the policy was issued, and may enter into an oral agreement to renew the policy of fire insurance which contains a stipulation that it may be renewed on the same conditions as the original policy, and such oral agreement is binding on the corporation, notwithstanding the original policy had expired several days before the renewal agreement was made.
2. Section 1820, F. L. 1918 contracts contrary stipulations in the policy.
Appeal from the District Court of Ramsey County, North Dakota, before Hon. A. J. Burr, J.
Reversed.
Opinion of the Court of Johnson, J.
F. R. Stevens and W. M. Anderson, Deeds, C. D., Attorneys for Appellant.
Fowler, Green & Watt, C. D., N. D., Attorneys for Respondent.

DECISIONS OF SUPREME COURT
From Cass County
Joseph Keller, Plaintiff-Respondent,
vs.
City of Fargo, a municipal corporation, Defendant-Appellant.

SYLLABUS:
Upon a second appeal in an action wherein is involved the liability of a contractor for his negligence in doing certain work in laying sewers and constructing water connections whereby the city was compelled to pay damages to a pedestrian injured through the presence of mud upon one of its sidewalks, it is held, for reasons stated in the opinion:
1. That the question whether the mud upon the sidewalk was proximately caused, through the negligence of the contractor, by piles of dirt negligently created and erected near, or adjacent to the sidewalk, or from foreign causes, was properly for the jury.
2. That the trial court did not err in its instructions and rulings concerning the admission of certain exhibits.
3. That the question of the admission of certain evidence was eliminated by the instructions of the trial court.
In District Court, Cass County, Cooley, J. Action by a contractor to recover from a city a balance due. Counterclaim by the city for negligence in the performance of the contractor's work. From a judgment in the contractor's favor the city has appealed.
Affirmed.
Opinion of the Court by Brown, Ch. J.
Pietros, Tennessee, Cuyler & Stambaugh, Fargo, N. D., Attorneys for Plaintiff and Respondent.
W. H. Shore, City Attorney, Fargo, N. D., Attorney for Defendant-Appellant.
E. P. Spalding, Fargo, N. D., of Counsel.

Reduction in Petroleum Rate Is Petitioned
A resolution to reduce 10 to 15 percent in freight rates on petroleum and petroleum products from the coast of Mexico, including Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana, to northern states, including North Dakota, is asked by independent refiners in a rate case pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission, according to E. M. Hendricks, traffic expert of the state railroad commission. The first hearing in this case by an examiner will be followed by a second hearing at Kansas City, the date of which has not been determined. The North Dakota commission will be represented at Kansas City, by Hendricks said.

Thirty-six states have property taxes on autos.

HOW LONG WILL BATTERY LAST?
One of the most frequent queries the service station man receives, and a lot of them are propounded to him every day by perplexed motorists is, "How long will a battery last?"
To ask such a question is just like asking the doctor how long you will live," states Mr. Corbin, Willard dealer. "He would tell you that if you ate simply, got plenty of sleep and exercise and did a lot of other things, you might live to a ripe old age, having accidents and provided there was nothing organic in the means. In other words, the expert whose job it is to make and keep people healthy could not answer your question definitely.

"So it is not surprising that even battery specialists are unable to tell accurately how long a battery will last. It is a fact that sometimes an exceptional battery will function for as long as ten years, but the battery that lasts for only a couple of months is likewise an exception.

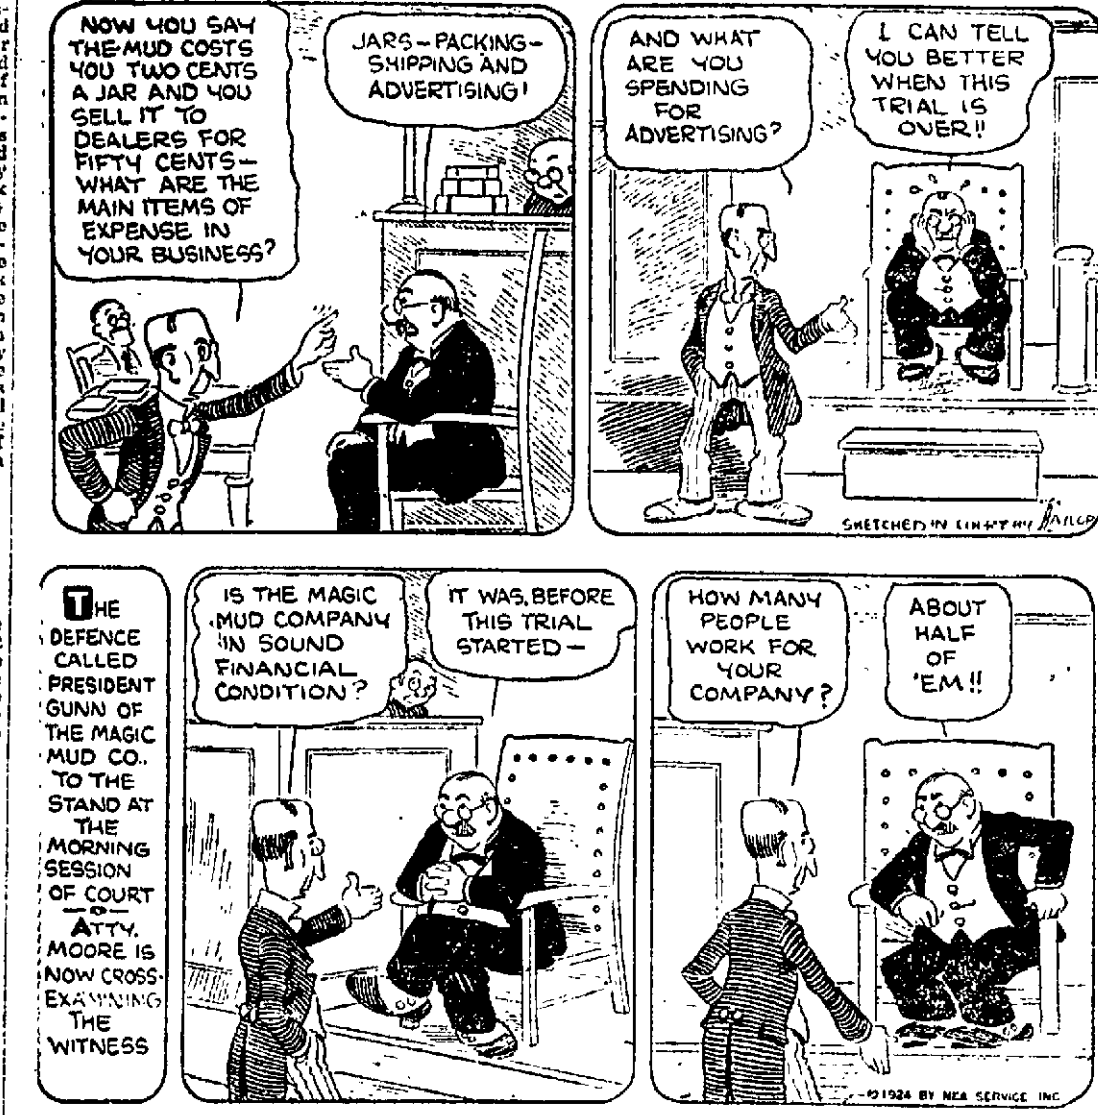

"But by this I do not mean that a motorist has no guide to battery values. Quite the contrary. As a matter of fact there are four things that determine battery life. They are use, time, care and the quality of the battery itself."
Pennsylvania collects the greatest amount in auto registration fees and taxes.

FUR FOR DECORATION
Fur is being used with greater discrimination than ever before on coats and costumes, the idea being to use it for a definite decorative scheme instead of piling it on to give the effect of luxury.
Nearly 2,000,000,000 pounds of pelt are on hand in U. S. refineries last June.

DECISIONS OF SUPREME COURT
From Cass County

Joseph Keller, Plaintiff-Respondent, vs. City of Fargo, a municipal corporation, Defendant-Appellant.

Syllabus: Upon a second appeal in an action wherein is involved the liability of a contractor for his negligence in doing certain work in laying sewers and constructing water connections whereby the city was compelled to pay damages to a pedestrian injured through the presence of mud upon one of its sidewalks, it is held, for reasons stated in the opinion:

1. That the question whether the mud upon the sidewalk was proximately caused, through the negligence of the contractor, by piles of dirt negligently created and erected near, or adjacent to the sidewalk, or from foreign causes, was properly for the jury;

2. That the trial court did not err in its instructions and rulings concerning the admission of certain exhibits;

3. That the question of the admission of certain evidence was eliminated by the instructions of the trial court.

In District Court, Cass County, Cooley, J. Action by a contractor to recover from a city a balance due. Counterclaim by the city for negligence in the performance of the contractor's work. From a judgment in the contractor's favor the city has appealed.

Reduction in Petroleum Rate Is Petitioned

A reduction of 15 to 20 percent in freight rates on petroleum and petroleum products from the southern oil fields, including Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana, to northern states, including North Dakota, is asked by independent refiners in a rate case pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission, according to E. M. Hendricks, traffic expert of the state railroad commission.

The first hearing in the case by an examiner will be followed by a second hearing at Kansas City, the date of which has not been determined. The North Dakota commission will be represented at Kansas City, Mr. Hendricks said.

HOW LONG WILL BATTERY LAST?

One of the most frequent queries the service station man receives, and a lot of them are propounded to him every day by perplexed motorists—is, "How long will a battery last?"

"To ask such a question is just like asking the doctor how long you will live," states Mr. Corwin, local Willard dealer. "He would tell you that if you ate simply got plenty of sleep and exercise and did a lot of other things, you might live to a ripe old age, barring accidents and provided there was nothing organically wrong. In other words, the specialist on the human body, the expert whose job it is to make and keep people healthy could not answer your question definitely.

"So it is not surprising that even battery specialists are unable to tell accurately how long a battery will last. It is a fact that sometimes an exceptional battery will function for as long as ten years, but the battery that lasts for only a couple of months is likewise an exception.

"But by this I do not mean that a motorist has no guide to battery values. Quite the contrary. As a matter of fact there are four things that determine battery life. They are use, time, care and the quality of the battery itself."

Pennsylvania collects the greatest amount in auto registration fees and taxes.

Fur is being used with greater discrimination than ever before on coats and costumes, the idea being to use it for a definite decorative scheme instead of piling it on to give the effect of luxury.

November Truly Month of Thanksgiving in State, Says A. C. Coulter

STUDENTS TO WRITE

Themes in Support of Greater North Dakota Movement To Be Undertaken

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 4.—November is to be "Thanksgiving month" in reality for North Dakota this year. Why the true spirit of Thanksgiving should prevail in North Dakota, and especially why students in the state college should be thankful this November 27 is the theme of a letter to be written by the students at the North Dakota Agricultural college in a contest inaugurated by Dr. John Lee Coulter, president of the institution.

The best letter is to be published in the Spectator, college paper, and sent to all the universities and colleges of the country with the Thanksgiving greetings of the students of the North Dakota college. The author of the prize-winning letter will receive an award of $10. For second place $7.50 is to be given, for third place $5 and for fourth place $2.50. All letters are to be judged by a committee of three, consisting of two faculty members and one student. Letters must not exceed 500 words and will contain a Thanksgiving greeting to all other schools of higher learning in the United States and must also state briefly some of the reasons why North Dakota residents can be thankful in 1924.

Supporting Movement
The college students and faculty members want to do their part in supporting the movement for a Greater North Dakota, in letting other states and countries know some of the many good things that we have in this state," said Dr. Coulter in his message to the students. "There are many real reasons why we at the college should be thankful this year and this month is the logical time to express that thankfulness."

"Just as the Eagle is recognized as the great symbol of American liberty in July so the turkey is recognized as the great symbol of American prosperity and thanksgiving in November. We like to live in peace under the wings of the one, but we also like to get a piece from under the wings of the other."

"Let's truly recognize November as 'Thanksgiving month' for North Dakota this year. While we must not boast or brag about ourselves, our state, our institution, yet may we not in a perfectly proper, modest way send Thanksgiving greetings to the students of all of the other colleges of America?"

Thousands of students in colleges presently will graduate; they will be looking for the greatest opportunity to carry on their life's work. While they may not hailing and education and possibly they may be able to secure the financial support of parents or friends.

"In sending these greetings from North Dakota might we not tell something of the reasons why we in North Dakota are thankful, not only for the beautiful harvest and very satisfactory prices for everything which we have to sell, but for the wonderful soil and coal and clay, for the other natural resources, for the sunshine and rainfall and temperate climate, which is so wonderfully health giving and invigorating?"

"May we not tell something of our college and of the opportunities for education which North Dakota affords, as well as other blessings which are ours?"

Tell of Opportunities
The business men of North Dakota during November will be telling the business men of other states about our opportunities; professional men will be telling those of other states; our farmers will be telling the farmers elsewhere about the remarkable agricultural resources; and our various commercial organizations will be telling of the wonders of great deposits of clay and coal.

"They will be pointing to the day when this state will see tremendous power plants at the entrance to our coal mines, producing power for industry and sending light, heat and power to every corner of the state in the form of electric energy."

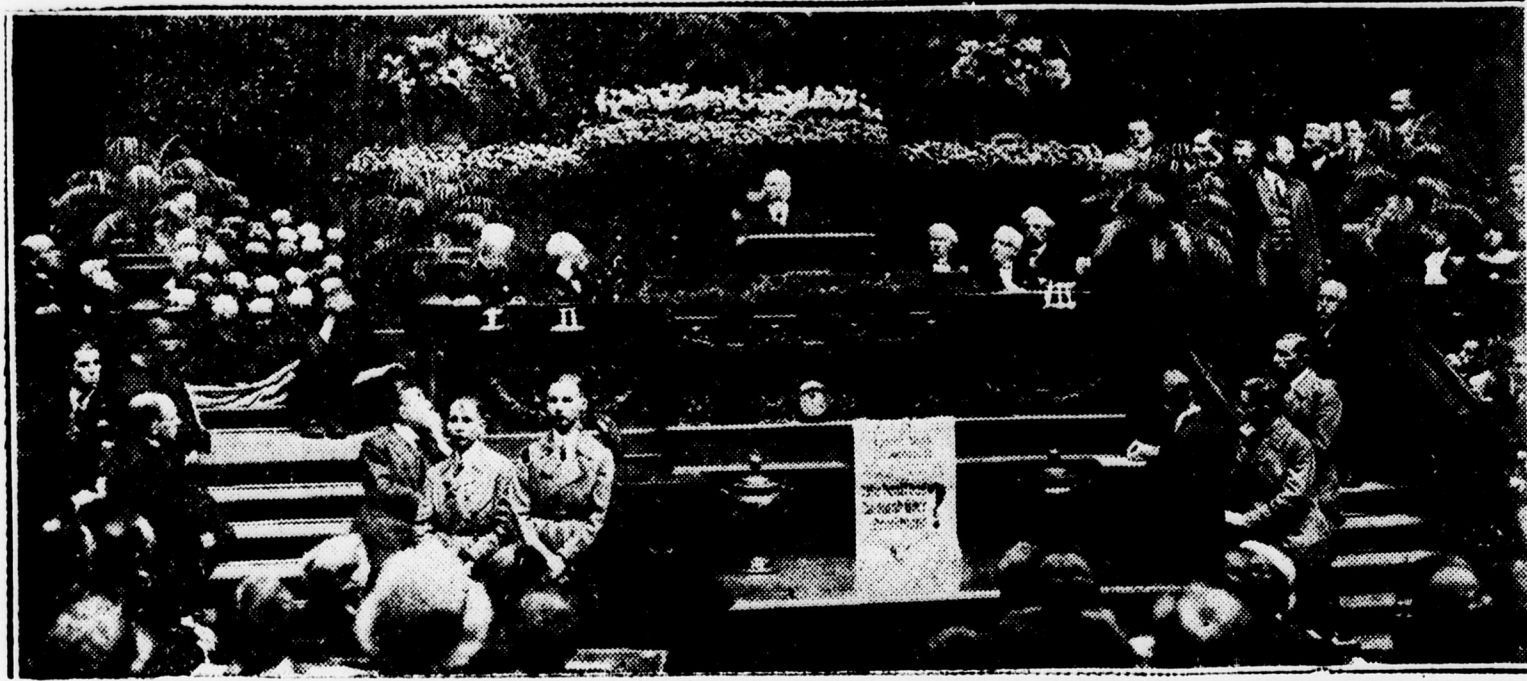

"Our student body will wish to participate in this movement and as a body tell the students of all parts of the United States of the great opportunities in North Dakota at the same time that we send Thanksgiving greetings."

"It is with this in mind that I propose that we participate in the Greater North Dakota campaign which has in mind to tell the truth about our state."

Many Veterans Rehabilitated At State A. C.
Fargo, N. D., Nov. 4.—But 12 wounded veterans of the World War, out of a total of 294 who have been enrolled since the program started in 1914, are now enrolled at the North Dakota Agricultural college under the Rehabilitation Training plan fostered by the government and directed by the Veterans Bureau, records at the registrar's office show.

"Three or four years ago this group was an influential one on the campus, taking part as an independent organization of its own," the registrar, A. H. Parrott, says.

EUROPEAN PEACE ADVOCATES GATHER IN BERLIN

When giving the names of the students enrolled, Mr. Parrott stated that this year practically marks the end of the work, as eight of the men are seniors, one a junior, two sophomores, and one a special student.

The men who are now enrolled are: Andrew Westergaard and T. S. Wold, drafting and building; W. P. Bates, chemistry senior; Harry R. Epps and Oly B. Lane, civil engineering senior; Wm. Freeman, education senior; Ralph Hanson, architecture senior; Roy W. Harding, agricultural sophomore; Rae Kneeshaw, architecture sophomore; Theo. Martell, agriculture junior; Thomas J. Smith, agriculture special, and Carl M. Stevens, agriculture senior.

MORE VICTIMS OF WRECK GO FROM HOSPITAL

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 4.—Six more persons who were injured in the wreck of Great Northern train No. 4 when six coaches were derailed near Gardner Saturday afternoon and who were taken to St. John's hospital in Fargo for treatment, were discharged from the hospital yesterday afternoon. Of the 12 persons who were treated Saturday night, only 12 remain in the hospital.

Of the 12 in the hospital Mrs. Harry Leake of Emerald, N. D., and Chris Nelson of St. Paul are the more seriously injured. Mrs. Leake had several ribs broken and Mr. Nelson is suffering from contusions of the brain.

Those discharged from the hospital yesterday were: Robert Bartlett, Medford, Wis.; Oscar Donaldson, 1179 West Fourteenth St., Des Moines; James O'Keefe, 1278 Lincoln St., St. Paul; Harold Lowe, 704 Alhambra Ave., Grand Forks; Tomie Smith, Solway, Minn.; W. E. Warren, Excelsior, Minn.

Miss Daisy Baker of Williston, who was en route to Rochester, Minn., to undergo an operation, was taken to Rochester last evening. Miss Baker suffered a severe leg injury in the wreck.

The wreckage was cleared away early Sunday and trains that day were run over the repaired tracks. No official report has as yet been issued by the road relative to the cause of the accident.

PROF. SHEPPERD WILL TRAVEL IN EUROPE

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 4.—Professor J. H. Shepperd, chairman of the animal husbandry department of the North Dakota Agricultural college, began Saturday his first leave of absence from the college in an educational career that has been continuous at the one institution for more than 20 years. Prof. Shepperd has been granted a year's leave of absence commencing November 1, 1924 and continuing until November 1, 1925. During this year of absence

There are a lot of Germans who are sick of war. Just look at this picture. It shows a peace conference in session in Berlin. The meeting was called the 23rd World Peace Congress. Representatives from several European nations were present. Senator Ferdinand Buisson of France is seen here addressing the delegates. Other speakers the same day were Professor Quiddo, German pacifist; Senator Henry La Fontaine, France, and Fridtjof Nansen, Norwegian polar explorer, educator and diplomat.

CAPITAL MAY BECOME CITY OF TENTS IN RENT WAR

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer
Washington, Nov. 4.—Washington, "The City Beautiful," may once again become a tented city unless a truce is reached between the capital's landlords and tenants.

More than 2000 notices of eviction, effective Nov. 1, have been served by landlords on tenants who have refused to meet rent increases which went into effect Oct. 1.

This threatened wholesale eviction is the culmination of a warfare between renters and rentiers that began with our entry into the World War. Congress, however, put the brakes on sky-rocketing rentals at that time by declaring a housing emergency and providing a rent commission for the District of Columbia with power to regulate rentals.

This commission, under fire by District landlords, has been continued from year to year by Congress. But recent court decisions adverse to the local rent act and the powers of the commission have given the property owners courage and the flood of dispossession notices is their declaration of war.

That it may be an intense and dramatic battle is indicated by the rallying of threatened renters into a "Tenants' League," sworn to resist the demands of their landlords to the limit.

Preparatory to the "zero hour" for battle, this organization has applied for permission to erect tents in the eclipse, a large open park space immediately south of the White House, for the housing of members who suddenly find themselves and their possessions in the streets.

These grounds were thrown open, a year ago, for tents to house thousands of visiting Shriners during the national Shrine convention. Secretary of War Weeks, however, says permission for such use by Shriners was specifically granted by Congress, and that lacking congressional approval, the rent commission declared that Washington landlords are agreed in a policy preferring to rent only two-thirds of their apartments at high rentals rather than all at a moderate rate which would produce the same gross return.

In addition to this, the crowding of families of from three to five people into "dormitories" and "cabinets" apartments of two or three little rooms is already producing an unwholesome condition socially and physically.

These are the things that have decided tenants on a definite and determined campaign of resistance. "We'll fight it out on this line if we freeze all winter," is the slogan of the Tenant League battalion.

From the college Professor Shepperd will travel in Europe studying sheep and bacon hogs.

He will visit the homes of the various breeds of stock, especially sheep, and will talk with the old Scottish shepherds in order to get the secrets of success that have always influenced Scotch sheep flocks. While in Great Britain he expects also to see the homes and present herds on such famous breeding farms as those owned by Robert Bakewell and Thomas Bates, the breeders who developed the Shorthorn breed and whose theories and practices of selection are still used by the breeders today.

In France he will study the Rambouillet sheep flocks and the development and history of that breed on the government farms.

Mr. Shepperd has been appointed collaborator for the U. S. department of agriculture to spend a month or so in Denmark studying the breeding and management of the special type of bacon hog from which that country supplies a superior quality of hams for the London market.

The Shepperds will spend the first part of their trip on a Mediterranean cruise visiting Gibraltar, Tripoli, Egypt, Greece and Italy.

"We will leave the company at Naples," said Mr. Shepperd, "and visit Venice, Rome and other interesting places, including perhaps a trip up to Switzerland, returning to Naples about the middle of February."

GOLD IS WHERE YOU FIND IT
Christchurch, New Zealand, Nov. 4.—A large gold-bearing reef at the foot of Mount Tarawera was discovered in a peculiar manner. It seems some hunters shot a wild pig whose body, in falling, dislodged a piece of stone at the edge of a river. Thus was revealed the glitter of gold, and the hunters rapidly uncovered a deposit. Further investigation disclosed the reef.

LABOR CABINET QUILTS OFFICE

London, Nov. 4.—The cabinet of Ramsey MacDonald, Great Britain's first labor government, resigned today. King George accepted the resignation.

Proclamation

GOLDEN RULE SUNDAY

WHEREAS, Sunday, December the seventh, 1924, has been designated as the date for an international relief effort, to be known as Golden Rule Sunday, by the representatives of twenty nations, including the United States, who recently met in Geneva, Switzerland, in an international conference to determine the best manner in which the people of the different countries represented could assist in alleviating the distress and suffering of the tens of thousands of practically denationalized orphans of the Near East—victims of the late World War and who are, in a peculiar sense, international wards, and WHEREAS, out of their deliberations the above subject matter of said relief plans in connection therewith, there evolved an additional and EVEN MORE important objective, the development of Golden Rule principles in both the personal and national life of the co-operating countries, as a contribution toward international good will, co-operation and permanent world peace, and WHEREAS, President Coolidge, Chief Executive of the United States, has commended this great humanitarian effort in the following language:

"I believe that the international observance of this day may not only save lives of thousands of destitute, but may possibly have an even greater benefit in the way of reflex influence upon those who thus observe the Golden Rule and help to establish it as a reality in daily living."

The international observance of this day might well contribute materially to the betterment of international relations and abiding world peace."

NOW, THEREFORE, I, R. A. Nestos, Governor of the state of North Dakota, believing that the people of this state are in sympathy with these high ideals, most sincerely request that:

SUNDAY, December 7, 1924, be observed throughout the state as GOLDEN RULE SUNDAY and in addition that the week period preceding or succeeding this date be utilized, if it be found convenient, as our opportunity for personal stocktaking; that we may thus determine whether or not we are adhering to the universally accepted and age-old standard of life, "WHATSOEVER YE WOULD THAT OTHERS SHOULD DO UNTO YOU, DO YE EVEN SO UNTO THEM," upon which great principle our nation and state were originally built and transmitted to us by our forefathers, and

FURTHER, to the end that the whole purpose of this Golden Rule Day arrangement may be carried to every citizen of the state, that all may be advised of the date agreed upon, and opportunity provided for every citizen to engage in its observance, I respectfully designate, and at the same time charge, the state officers of the Near East Relief organization, together with the co-operating members of the Golden Rule Day State Committee whom I will later name, with the responsibility of perfecting a plan and an organization in each county of the state that will enable each individual citizen and religious, educational, social, civic, or fraternal group who desire to participate, an opportunity to do so.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto subscribed my name and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the state of North Dakota. Done at Bismarck.

MRS. LUCY WELLS ONLY SHERIFF IN ENGLAND

Canterbury, England, Nov. 4.—This ancient cathedral city has just received a custom of medieval times by conferring the office of sheriff upon a woman. Incidentally the recipient of the honor, Mrs. Lucy Green Wells, the wife of a local tailor, has the distinction of being the only woman in England to hold such an office.

"My chief duty as sheriff," Mrs. Wells said recently, "is to appear with the mayor and councillors on special occasions wearing my purple robe, with the silver chain of office round my neck."

"Nowadays the under-sheriff is responsible for most of the actual work in connection with the office, but there are still certain functions I perform. If a Canterbury man had to be hanged, for instance, I believe I should have to sign the document certifying that the execution had been properly carried out."

There were women sheriffs aplenty in the middle ages, and in those days they had to shoulder heavy fiscal, military and administrative burdens. One of the first notable women of the middle ages to hold the office was Ella, Countess of Salisbury, who was sheriff of Wiltshire until she contracted religion and retired to the Abbey of Lacock.

ISLANDERS ARE HAPPY

London, Nov. 4.—Hayling Island is about the only place in England where there is no unemployment.

The island, in the Southampton arch, has a prosperous population of about 3,000 and at present no one there is receiving a penny from the national unemployment fund. The men and women of the island are all busy in the fields, in the fishing grounds and the shops.

The mackerel season, which is just over, has been the best in years and the harvest, unlike the rest of England, is bountiful. There are plenty of visitors on the island and the inhabitants are in a state of financial exuberance.

The islanders also differ from the mainland compatriots in that they would rather live in the country than in the town. Last year the population of one of the two towns on the island dropped from 800 to 500 because the price of farm products went up.

ARGENTINE BREEDING POLO PONIES

Buenos Aires, Nov. 4.—The Argentine polo ponies which contributed so much to the victory of the Argentine four in the Olympic polo championship, are the product of four or five generations of crossing "criollo," or native, ponies with small sized English thoroughbreds. They are considered to combine the qualities of endurance and cleverness of the native horse with the speed of the English product.

Since the tour of Argentine polo players to England and the United States in 1922, when the players sold the mounts at a very large profit, the breeding of polo ponies has almost become an industry in Argentina. For a number of years polo ponies have been produced here on four or five ranches, and have had a sale in Europe, mostly in England. The King of Spain has been one good buyer of them.

Now, with the additional prestige gained by the Argentine product at the Olympics, other ranches are devoting themselves to breeding. Sires and mothers accustomed to the large rodeos of the Argentine pampas are selected, for they are not afraid of being ridden down, especially if they have been used in parting cattle.

DECISION OF SUPREME COURT From Burleigh County

E. C. Ruble, Plaintiff-Appellant, vs. E. M. Jacobson, Defendant-Respondent.

Syllabus: (1). Where a party moves for a new trial, he must present all grounds which he claims entitle him to a new trial. In other words, he cannot present one ground in the trial court, and another ground in the appellate court.

(2). For reasons stated in the opinion, it is held, that the action of the trial court in refusing to grant a new trial upon the ground of newly discovered evidence was proper.

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole. 35c and 65c, jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.
